Leader Says Only Government Can Prevent Strike
of 1,000,000 Workers

CINCINNATI, June 20.—(By the Associated Press)—Interest here today
in the nation-wide rail strike situation centered in the conference tonight between officials of the miners and railroad shop crafts union when plans for concerted strike action between these organizations will be discussed.
In a statement, William H. Johnson, president of the Machinists, declared the only possible move that could prevent a walkout of approximately one million rail workers July was for the government to order
the labor board to suspend its order demanding wages and for the board to enforce against all lines its order against the farming out of shop work to railroads.

Strike Ballots Mailed CINCINNATI, June 20.—(By the Associated Press)—Ballots for the election of delegates to the national conference of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America, which will be held at the Hotel Cincinnati, July 1, were mailed today by the local union.
The referendum will be taken, he said, in protest against a wage reduction for clerks of three and four cents a hour, ordered by the railroad board last Friday, and against the practice of contracting by the New York Central of certain classes of freight cars and station labor. Under the board's ruling the wages of the clerks will average 55.8 cents an hour, effective July 1. The ballots are returnable prior to July 1.
Inasmuch as agreements had been made with several railroads, E. H.
Tzgerald, president of the Brotherhood, said in Cincinnati last night that a general strike referendum would be taken.

BRITISH OPEN GOLF CHAMPIONSHIP

SANDWICH, June 20.—(By the Associated Press)—Jack Hutchison of Ireland, British open golf champion, led in a card of 75 for his second qualifying round in the British open championship today. This gave him an aggregate of 149 for the two rounds.
J. H. Barnes, the American open golf champion, turned in a card of 73 in his second qualifying round of the British open golf championship here today, giving him an aggregate of 154 for the two rounds. Joe Kirkwood, the Australian champion, also scored 73 for an aggregate of 147.
Barnes reached the turn in 33 and Kirkwood in 39.
Up to the early afternoon, Kirkwood's score was the best aggregate made in.

ME INOPPORTUNE TO DISCUSS IRELAND

LONDON, June 20.—(By the Associated Press)—Winston Spencer Parnell, the colonial secretary, was in a house of commons today and thought the present time inopportune for a discussion of Ireland, and asked the house to reserve any statement he might make to the commons until some later time.

OVERFLOWS BANKS

CHATELAIN, Que., June 20.—Federal continuous heavy rains of the last few days, the Chatelain river has overflowed its banks flooding most of the Chatelain valley. The inhabitants of the village of St. Mary, Beauce, and St. Joseph were forced to flee to higher ground.
Travelers to Valley Junction must pass the railroad station in order to reach the hotel as many of the roads are flooded.

POLICE CHIEF ISSUES ORDERS

Patrolmen Are Instructed to Check up Violators of Sunday Ordinances

Must Keep Close Watch on Reckless Auto Drivers—
Fireworks Complaint

Supt. of Police Thomas R. Atkinson
today issued a set of orders which are to be read at all roll calls today in which patrolmen are asked to check up violators of Sunday ordinances, to keep close watch on motor vehicle drivers, especially those who become reckless, and to see to it that fireworks are not discharged before the time set by law.
The superintendent has received numerous complaints about all the above mentioned things. He is very anxious to check the number of motor accidents in this city and to bring the list down as far as possible. According to him.

RUTH AGAIN SUSPENDED

Home Run King Receives
His Third Layoff of the Present Season

CLEVELAND, June 20.—(By the Associated Press)—Babe Ruth today was suspended for three days by President Ban Johnson of the American League for striking out in yesterday's Cleveland-New York game, which resulted in umpire Dineen putting the home run slugger out of the contest after he had disputed a decision on Nunamaker of Cleveland at second base. It marked Ruth's third lay-off of the season.

WILL EXTEND WHITE WAY
LIGHTING SYSTEM

According to plans now in the process of development, the city this year will extend the White Way lighting system in Paige and John Streets, Gorham street, as far as Thomas F. Mann Square; Market and Middle streets, between Palmer and Central; Palmer street and Central street as far as Charles street.

The mayor today requested a representative of the Lowell Electric Light Corp. to draw up a rough draft of these extensions and told him that all probability action would be taken on them within the next two months.
The extension of the system in East Merrimack street and to include the Memorial Auditorium grounds and Brown street, already is being laid out. Earlier in the year, Councilor Fred Saffier attempted to have the city extend the system in Gorham street, but the city solicitor ruled that money necessary therefor could not properly
be transferred from the overlay surplus account, as was planned and the order dropped from sight. Evidently the mayor now includes this extension in his plan.

The cost of the proposition cannot be approximated at present, although it was said that $1200 would care for the Gorham street extension for a period of six months.

CONFERENCE A LIVELY SESSION

Mayor and Councilor Gallagher in Verbal Clash
While Discussing Finances

Interference in Police Affairs Charged by Mayor—Councilor Fires Hot Shot

Mayor George H. Brown and Councilor James J. Gallagher staged a battle of words in the mayor's reception room last night that persons who were on the inside say was "rare and easy." It grew out of a discussion of police department affairs during a conference called for the purpose of solving the problem of granting additional money to city departments over and above the appropriations voted in the budget.
Although the conference, which was attended by the mayor, the city auditor, members of the council committee on finance and the heads of a number of departments, was a closed session as far as the newspapers and general public were concerned, some news regarding what transpired has leaked out.

It is said that the Brown-Gallagher bout was the star event of the evening. In fact, it had not been staged, things would have been very dry and very drab and very matter of fact.
As far as can be learned, Councilor Gallagher asked a question of Supt.
Thomas R. Atkinson which had to do with a possible transfer of some member of the mayor's squad—no one in particular was mentioned—to an unknown town in Centralville as a matter of economy.

This was the mayor's cue to open up and it is alleged that he accused Councilor Gallagher of interfering with the affairs of the police department and stating that neither he nor the city council had any such right.
When asked today as to his participation in the fracas, Councilor Gallagher was reticent at first, but gradually admitted that he had said the mayor a few things in the course of the evening.

"I simply asked Supt. Atkinson, if,
as a matter of economy, whether or not a man might be transferred from the liquor squad to a route in Centralville," he said. "I understood that there was no interference intended.
It was just a natural question that any member of the council might ask who was at all interested in city affairs and the financial questions under discussion at the conference." Continuing, Mr. Gallagher said, that the moment he asked this question the mayor began to accuse him of interference.

"I listened to what he had to say for some time and then I broke in on him and told him very plainly that I believed that he was interfering with me to mind my own business."
If he thought I was trying to interfere with his department and that I wanted him (the superintendent) to tell the mayor the same thing if he attempted to dictate.

"With that over," continued Councilor Gallagher, "the mayor tried to tell me for the one-hundredth time that he was the executive head of the city and that the council had no such power.
Well, I disagreed with him there just a little bit and told him that I was inclined to think that the executive power is split 55-45, with the council having the larger share."

As to the business end of the meeting, final decision on the matter of additional money was postponed until Thursday evening at 7 o'clock when Pres. Bagley's committee again will meet, probably to prepare an order for presentation to the council that same evening.

CHIEF ATKINSON GETS BLACK HAND LETTER

A black-hand letter similar to the one received by the mayor yesterday,
was received today by Superintendent
of Police Thomas R. Atkinson. Unlike
the mayor's letter, the one received by the police chief contained no death threat. In fact, the writer of it said that he had nothing against Atkinson
but that he had gone too far in the Trafalgar matter.
The chief considers the letter an April fool's joke, a bit out of season and will not pay any attention to it.

ANOTHER DOG BITE

It was reported to the board of it has been turned over to Dr. Sherman for investigation.

the health authorities this year.

ST. PAUL, Minn., June 20.—(By the Minnesota primaries turned today to the race Mrs. Anna Dickie Olesen made for the democratic senatorial nomination.

Reports available early today showed her in a nip-and-tuck contest with Thomas J. Molghon, one of her two opponents, and it became evident that the outcome would be in doubt until many more precincts had reported.

Renomination of Senator Frank B.

republican state officers was indicated in reports from 200 representative precincts and their success was claim-

RIVER RISES RAPIDLY

Merrimack Six Feet Higher
Today Than Saturday as Result of Rains

As the result of the week-end storm
that played over the Merrimack river
valley Saturday, Sunday and Monday,
the river at Lowell this morning was four feet higher than yesterday and six feet higher than the maximum mark before the mills opened on Saturday. It is believed that the water will swell even more before the effect of the heavy rains up country is fully felt here.
When the sun's rays penetrated the haze over the city this noon they shone down on a community that had been water soaked for more than 72 hours. It was not a particularly friendly sun, however, for it soon disappeared again and a sky that had begun to flaunt occasional patches of blue, once more covered itself with a gray blanket.
Lowell today still felt the effects of the deluge. Telephone wires were out of commission in many places and electric service was not quite up to snuff.

Returns from Ireland Election Already in Show Ma-

BELFAST, June 20.—(By the Associated Press)—Shots were fired early today in the vicinity of Storm-ant castle, which was purchased by the Ulster government as the official residence of Sir James Craig, the premier, who, with his wife, took up his residence there for the first time last evening.

Results of the election were announced today. Forty-four coalition members and 25 coalition republicans have been elected to the Irish parliament from contested and uncontested constituencies, according to returns so far received.

The returns show that 72,285 electors in the city of Dublin voted for union and independent candidates favorable to the treaty and 19,929 for the republican panel nominees.
Officials were reticent regarding the firing, but the belief was expressed in other quarters that an attack on the castle was contemplated, but was frustrated by the police guards.

Griffith Strong Leader

BELFAST, June 20.—The election result in Cavan showed Arthur Griffith, president of the Dail Eireann, a strong leader in the polling. He received 18,101 votes; W. L. Cole, panel anti-treaty, 8400; Sean Milroy, pro-treaty, 6030, and P. Baxter, Farmers' party, 5015. Griffith, Cole and Milroy were elected.
In the Leix and Offaly division of Old Kings and Queens counties, William Gavin, labor, pro-treaty, headed the poll. Kevin O'Higgins, panel pro-treaty, a member of the delegation that recently accompanied Arthur Griffith to London, and F. Bulfin, panel, pro-treaty, were also elected on the first count. Fourth place lies between Dr. Patrick McCartan, former republican envoy to the United States, and J. P. Lynch, with Dr. McCartan's chances the better.

For U. S. Ship as "Prison"

BELFAST, June 20.—(By the Associated Press)—The former United States Shipping board vessel Argenta has been refitted as a prison ship in which to confine the Sinn Feiners captured by the Ulster government in a recent roundup.

Six hundred cells have been built,
wire netting being used extensively,
and the vessel which will be stationed in Belfast Lough, will be ready soon.

The Argenta was one of 10 wooden ships laid up in British ports by the shipping board on completion of their only voyage from America to England.
After being held up in Jolly Loch, Scotland, she was sold to German interests and later bought by a Belfast firm acting as the agent of the Ulster government.

Sunday 1 to 0, registered his seventh victory this season against three defeats, have found that not only has he entered the ultra select class his title to the champion shutout king of the majors. Sunday's blank drawn by the White Sox was the 95th Johnson has handed out in his big league career. Johnson has won 327 victories against 217 defeats for an average of .601.

Seek to Determine Cause of Deaths of Wilbanks and First Wife of Dr. Saggus

WASHINGTON, Ga., June 20.—Plans were made to exhume the bodies of Charles W. Wilbanks and the first wife of Dr. J. G. Saggus to determine the cause of their deaths.

This announcement was made after the arrest yesterday of Dr. Saggus, who was lodged in jail here on charges of poisoning the former Mrs. Saggus and Wilbanks, a former neighbor and the arrest yesterday of Dr. Saggus.

Dr. Saggus emphatically denied the charges and attributed them to a "frameup" born of jealousy. His denial was substantiated by Mrs. Saggus, but with the verdict of the coroner's jury that the physician was guilty of a double murder in their hands, officials prepared for the post-mortem examination.

WILL "CHECK UP" CITY PAYROLLS

(Special to The Sun.)
BOSTON, June 19.—In order that it may "check up" city payrolls, and ascertain whether any persons are being employed in any of the cities of the commonwealth in violation of the civil service laws, the state department of civil service, through its secretary, John C. Gilbert, has "requested" all department heads in each city to file with the commission at once a report indicating all persons who have received pay or rendered bills during the month preceding the filing of the report.

Mr. Gilbert's letter reads:—"I am directed by the commissioner of civil service to request you, under the provisions of section 31 of chapter 31 of the General Laws, as amended by chapter 31 of the acts of 1922, to make and file within seven days after the receipt of this notice, with the commissioner of civil service and with the auditor or officer or officers whose duty it is to audit your accounts, a report containing the names of all persons appointed or employed by you, or who have received pay or rendered bills for services or labor rendered or performed, during the calendar month next preceding the date of filing such report."

Under said law, the report must be under oath and contain the following information:—First, name of person appointed or employed or rendered bill for services or labor; second, nature and brief description of the services or labor which such person has actually rendered or performed during said month; third, title of the office or employment of such person as stated in the payrolls of the department; fourth, the regular salary or wages of the appointee or employee; fifth, all other payments of any kind made to the appointee or employee during said month.

KILLS 18-YEAR-OLD WIFE AND MOTHER-IN-LAW

STATESBORO, Ga., June 20.—Declared to have confessed to shooting to death his 18-year-old wife and his mother-in-law, while returning in an automobile with them to their home at Dover, Ga., Elliott Padrick was held at Augusta, today, where he was speedily removed last night for safe keeping.

Passers-by found the automobile abandoned on the road, containing the body of Padrick's mother-in-law, Mrs. M. R. Dixon, 37, and his wife, who expired in a few minutes, after it is said, accusing her husband of the shooting.

Padrick, who had been separated from his wife for several months, is said by the authorities to have confessed to shooting the two women in an episode of jealousy over what he considered were his wife's attentions to other men.

COMPENSATION TO BE DISCONTINUED

BOSTON, June 20.—With the permission of Joseph A. Parks of the Industrial accident board, the Travelers Insurance Company will discontinue payment of compensation to Alphonse Houchet, formerly of Lowell, who sustained a fracture of the right knee cap while in the employ of the Casper Construction Company in May, 1915. Compensation has been paid to him since the injury, although he has been based upon only partial incapacity.

Recently the insurance company discovered that since moving to Suncook, N. H., Houchet has established a business of his own, doing odd jobs of carpentering, at which he has been to earn more than the $22 per week which was paid him while working in Lowell, previous to the injury. Consequently the company demanded an opportunity to show that it was entitled to discontinue the compensation payments.

To prove its contention, the company called as a witness the resident of Suncook for whom Houchet has recently worked, and this witness placed in evidence a record of the payments made by him to Houchet, this evidence corroborating the company's contention that the man has an earning capacity greater than he previously had, and upon this presentation Commissioner Parks granted it permission to discontinue the payments. GIRL HAD PAINFUL TIMES

Mothers—Read This Letter and Statement Which Follows

Portland, Indiana.—"I was troubled with irregularity and constipation and would often have to lie down because of pains. One Sunday my aunt was visiting and she said her girl took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and got well, so mother said she guessed she would let me try it. It is doing me good and I praise it highly. You are welcome to use this letter as a testimonial."

STELLA NEWTON, R. R. 8, Portland, Indiana.

Mothers—You should carefully guard your daughter's health. Advise her of the danger which comes from standing around with cold or wet feet, from lifting heavy articles, or overworking. Do not let her overstudy.

If she complains of headache, pains in back or lower limbs, or if you notice a slowness of thought, nervousness or irritability on the part of your daughter, give her careful attention.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is an excellent medicine for your daughter to take, as it is especially adapted to relieve just such symptoms. Remember it contains nothing that can injure and can be taken in safety.

The Aleutian Islands, west of Alaska, have a population of about 2000.

Hale and Baxter Win Continuance term by a plurality of 25,000 over John P. Deering, with Leon F. Higgins trailing.

The vote of 513 election precincts out of 636 in the state, representing 401 out of 620 cities and towns, was:

For senator—Davies 7300; Guernsey 15,699; Hale 36,196.

For governor—Baxter 40,552; Deering 14,918; Higgins 10,759.

The total registered vote of the missing precincts, mostly very small towns, was too small to affect the result.

Returns from the same precincts left the contest for state auditor in doubt. Auditor, Elbert D. Hayford, seeking re-nomination, was leading Edwin J. Morrill by slightly more than 400 votes, with Maurice W. Dragdon running a good third. The vote of these precincts was: Bragdon 14,058; Hayford 12,125; Morrill 17,638.

Senator Hale carried all but two counties and all but three of the cities. Guernsey carried his home county, Piscataquis, and the adjoining Penobscot county and the cities of Bangor, Brewer and Lewiston. In Portland, the largest city, the senator's vote was 2100 greater than the combined vote of his opponents.

Governor Baxter lost only two counties, Penobscot to Higgins and York to Deering, with the possibility that Higgins might nose him out in Hancock county when the last returns were in. He carried all but four of the 20 cities, Higgins carrying Bangor, Brewer and Oldtown, and Deering carrying Saco.

All of the candidates carried their home towns. The total vote, partly because of heavy rain, was light.

Guernsey voted in the primaries for the first time in this state, although they participated in the election in 1920.

It was the second defeat for Guernsey for the senatorial nomination and of Deering for the nomination for governor. Six years ago in a special senatorial primary, Guernsey lost to Senator Ferndal by 800 votes. In 1920

Deering ran second by 2500 votes to Frederick H. Parkhurst in a four-cornered contest. Governor Baxter came into office upon the death of Governor Parkhurst soon after his inauguration. Congressmen Beedy, White, Nelson and Hersey, all republicans, were re-nominated without opposition. On the democratic ticket, there were only minor contests. The democrats nominated for senator, former Governor Sakley C. Curtis, for governor, former State Attorney General William E. Pattangall, and for congress, Louis A. Donahue, Bertrand G. McIntyre, Leon O. Tebbets and James W. Sewall.

In a statement early today, Senator Hale expressed pleasure with the "vote of confidence" given him and added:

"The contest has been so conducted by all of the contestants as to leave no sore spot, and the republicans of Maine will be united in September. With Governor Baxter as our standard bearer, I believe that we shall win a notable victory."

Candidates Issue Statements
The following statements were issued early today by candidates in yesterday's primaries:

Senator Frederick Hale: "I am naturally very much pleased with the vote of confidence given me by the republicans of Maine. I have spent practically no time in campaigning and whatever fight has been made for me has been made by my friends. They have stood by me most loyally and I feel very grateful to them. The contest has been so conducted by all of the contestants as to leave no sore spots and the republicans of Maine will be united in September. With Governor Baxter as our standard bearer, I believe that we shall win a notable victory."

Governor Percival P. Baxter: "The result of the primaries indicates that the people have confidence in the present state administration and I fully appreciate the responsibility of the position I occupy. A governor cannot do the work of his office and at the same time carry on a political campaign. I was obliged to rely upon my friends to do this for me, and I am grateful for their loyal support."

Frank E. Guernsey: "I have no question about the nomination of Senator Hale and have sent my congratulations to him. The three days rain probably reduced the primary vote in the state more than 25,000 votes, practically eliminating the vote in the rural communities of the north, on which I was relying for support. The southern candidates under the circumstances had a great advantage in getting their vote to the polls in the large places in the southern part of the state."

John P. Deering: "I concede Gov. Baxter's nomination for governor of the state of Maine. I congratulate him on his victory. I think my defeat was due to the difficulty of running against a man holding office and the impossibility of placing my side of the issue before the people."

Primary System Rich Man's Game
"The difficulties of the primary campaign in trying to cover 620 cities and towns are such that no person can do it alone without expending a vast amount of money. The enormous expenses of the primary make it impossible for a man of limited means to get his story to the people. The primary system of nominating candidates for office is a rich man's game. The rich men win in Maine the same as in Pennsylvania."

"I wish to thank sincerely all my loyal friends throughout the state for the splendid support they have given me. An experienced campaigner said: 'If the primary law lasts five years longer there will not be three people in the state speaking to each other. There must be an improved system of nominating candidates before a man of ordinary means stands a ghost of a show of success.'"

F. OF L. CONVENTION

SUPERIOR COURT
CIVIL SESSION

A verdict in the sum of $117.92 was returned this noon at the civil session of the superior court in the case of J. Edward Lydstone, of Somerville, vs. Susan M. Deardon and trustees of Boston, an action of contract, which went to trial yesterday morning. In this case the plaintiff sought to recover the sum of $800 and interest, which he alleged he paid to the defendants for a coat, which was guaranteed to be a brand new "Alaskan seal coat, but which it is claimed later turned out to be a re-made coat of old second hand skins.

The next case to go on trial was that of Abbie A. Hilly vs. F. X. Dostaler et al., an action of tort, in the sum of $5000. In this case the plaintiff seeks to recover damages for personal injuries she received when she was struck by an automobile owned by the defendants in Westford street on Oct. 14, 1921.

"Sylpho-Nathol"

makes healthful cleanness

"Cousin Elizabeth took a Ph.D. at Wellesley. She's so scientific and scholarly you feel that every statement she makes is backed by facts. She thoroughly approves of Sylpho-Nathol. In fact, she's advising its use in her Welfare work in Boston."

"The way in which housekeepers have come to realize the importance of sanitation is really wonderful," she said. "Such measures are very necessary to community health. There would be less risk of influenza and other contagious diseases if Sylpho-Nathol were used in every home."

"All the ordinary cleaning in the world won't get rid of germs. They must be destroyed, and that's what Sylpho-Nathol does. It meets a great need for a really effective household disinfectant and deodorant."

Sylpho-Nathol is safe. Though 4% times stronger than carbolic acid, it is as safe to have in the house as a cake of scouring soap.

Sylpho-Nathol is pleasant to use. It destroys odors as well as germs; but its faint, friendly, refreshing smell doesn't linger.

Sylpho-Nathol is easy to use. A teaspoonful in a quart of warm water makes a clean-smelling, pearly-gray solution that's ready for immediate use.

Sylpho-Nathol should be used regularly wherever odors may start or germs breed—down sink pipes to keep them sweet and odorless; in the garbage can to eliminate unpleasant smells and drive flies away; in the cellar to chase away damp, musty odors; and, of course, around the bathroom fixtures and as a flush for the toilet bowl.

Sylpho-Nathol is a splendid healing antiseptic for cuts, burns, bruises and sprains. It is indispensable for use in the sick-room, as a safeguard against contagion.

Sylpho-Nathol comes in four handy sizes, 15c, 35c, 65c and $1.25. Most good grocers and druggists have it. If yours hasn't, he can get it easily. Just ask for it by name—"Sylpho-Nathol."

OFFICER LOSES PANTS

Raiding Policeman Has Trousers Ripped Off by Women After Evidence

BOSTON, June 20—That the "female of the species is more deadly than the male" was proven conclusively yesterday, when a husky six-foot patrolman attached to the East Dedham street police station told Judge Dowd in the municipal court how he lost his trousers during a raid in the South End.

Pauline Ruskin, strong and healthy looking, living at 251 Shawmut avenue, was arraigned charged with making a sale of liquor to police officers attached to the liquor squad. Among the spectators in the rear of the courtroom were two other women, ready at a moment's notice, to rush to the rescue of Pauline at a given signal. These two women, the police say, assisted Pauline in removing the trousers from the officer.

According to Patrolman Conroy, the victim of the atrocious assault, he entered the apartment occupied by Pauline and entered into conversation with her and two other women present. Everything proceeded well until someone suggested having a drink. Conroy told the court he asked to buy some liquor and soon secured it.

Then the fun commenced. Conroy casually poured the contents of the glass he secured into a bottle and placed it into his hip pocket. He then announced the fact that he was a police officer.

"What!" shouted Pauline. "You!" joined in the other two women.

"We should worry," came the cry from the trio, "I guess we can take care of you."

And then the officer charges the women attacked him and tried to secure the precious vial containing the evidence and which was in his pocket. They tore his coat, scratched his face, the officer charges, but still he held tight to the bottle.

Then they started for his trousers. When other members of the liquor squad, headed by Sergeant Miller, entered the house they found Conroy still master of the bottle, but unable to leave the place owing to his trouserless condition.

An old skirt was secured and Conroy brought the woman to the station house. At first the booking officer did not know who was the woman charged with the sale, but when officers secured another pair of trousers for Conroy the sergeant behind the desk soon distinguished Pauline from Conroy.

In court yesterday Judge Dowd ordered the Ruskin woman held in bonds for arraignment on Friday. Additional charges are expected to be preferred against her.

TO RESUME FLIGHT

Seaplane Pilot Forced to Descend in Fog

NANTIC, Conn., June 20.—Robert Hewitt, pilot of the seaplane which became lost in the fog and descended here last night, intended to resume his flight from Boston to Paterson, N. J., today. When Hewitt descended in Nanticoke Bay he struck a rock, which was just under the surface at low tide, tearing a hole in the bottom of the seaplane. The plane's momentum carried him to the shore. Hewitt expects to make repairs and finish his flight today. He left Boston on Saturday, it was reported.

FOR THE TODDLER

Overall of colored sateen are very smart garments for the toddling child. Sometimes they have embroidered pockets and sometimes a little yarn or coarse thread is used to illustrate some Mother Goose tale on the front of the garment.

Nip and Tuck for Nomination

state convention and Herman Mueller, incumbent, elected two years ago with Non-Partisan league endorsement, seemed close as tabulation of returns was resumed today, although Miss Kaeber then had a 4 to 3 lead.

First reports gave Mrs. Olsen a marked advantage and for some time she held a lead, only to lose it as the Ramsey county (St. Paul) vote began to come in. Then first she and then Melgren would take first place.

It is the first time in the history of the state-local politicians say it is the first time in the history of the country—that a woman has sought the senatorial nomination of a major political party and in Mrs. Olsen's case she had the endorsement of the democratic convention.

Born in Minnesota 36 years ago, Mrs. Olsen lived on a farm in the southern part of the state until she married Peter Olsen, now superintendent of city schools at Cloquet. They have one child, Mary, 14 years old who has taken an active interest in her mother's entry into politics.

In the republican senatorial race, Ernest Lundgren of Minneapolis, former congressman, gave Senator Kellogg the closest race, although reports from the first 400 precincts showed Kellogg leading 2 to 1. The same ratio was maintained by Gov. Preus, whose opponent was Franklin F. Ellsworth.

Further returns today from the Third congressional district, indicated that the contest between Representative Charles D. Davis and Reuben Thoresen, the latter endorsed by the district convention would be closer than first reports had indicated.

Police Chief Issues Orders

to the chief's way of thinking, a great many accidents can be avoided. If motorists will slow down and sound horns at all intersecting ways. The motor laws are very specific on this point and limit the speed to eight miles an hour.

In regard to the discharging of fireworks the chief thinks this is done almost entirely by small boys. The law says that fireworks of any kind must not be discharged until midnight on July 3. People in hospitals have complained that the noise disturbs patients and makes them extremely nervous and restless. Aged and infirm people are also disturbed greatly by the noise attending the discharge of fireworks and it is with this in mind that the superintendent wrote that clause into the orders.

The orders follow:
Office of the Supt. of Police.
Complaint has come to this office that persons are keeping open shop on the Lord's day without the required Sunday license. The day officers are instructed to check them up.

Complaint is also made that some stores are violating the law by selling meats, groceries, etc., on the Lord's day. All officers are instructed to give this matter their attention.

I desire to call your attention to the danger of recklessly operating motor vehicles. While I believe we are free from auto accidents as other cities of a similar population and perhaps more so, yet we must curb the reckless operator, and the necessity of requiring him to slow down and give a timely warning at intersecting streets is obvious and in so doing will reduce the number in our streets.

Many complaints are coming in regarding the discharging of fireworks by firecrackers in the city, especially in the vicinity of hospitals and other in-

July 3rd, Sec. Chapter 105, Acts of 1910, Sec. 41.
Signed THOMAS R. ATKINSON, Supt. of Police.

Organization of the Club—Its Officers, the Scheming Circle and What Has Been Accomplished by This Live Club of City Boosters in a Very Short Time—The Law Against False Advertising

FRANK RICARD,
President.

EDWARD W. GALLAGHER,
Organizer and Secretary.

Starting with a membership of approximately 50 at the organization meeting on the evening of January 18, 1922, the Lowell Advertising Club has met with remarkable success in all its undertakings, until at present the membership is approximately 300.

Each member automatically becomes a member of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World, and the club itself is affiliated with the New England Association of Advertising Clubs. Dues are five dollars per year, one dollar and a half of which goes to the A. A. C. of W., and includes a subscription to "Associated Advertising," the monthly publication of the national body.

Although the underlying purpose of the club is related to advertising, membership is not restricted solely to those engaged in advertising. The club is a Lowell boosting organization and boosting is nothing more or less than advertising. Membership is open to any citizen who is desirous of becoming associated with a live, sociable membership and who will practice the slogan "Pull for Lowell or Pull Out!"

The Advertising Club has its own organization of officers and committees by which it is entirely controlled. It may be traced back, however, to a suggestion made by George F. Wells, of the Chamber of Commerce, that Lowell ought to have an advertising club.

All plans for organization, assembling of those interested, affiliation with the national body, and other details, were handled by Edward W. Gallagher, assistant secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, who was elected secretary-treasurer of the Advertising Club at its first meeting.

Other officers for this year are Frank Ricard, president; Miss Grace Burns, Chalifoux company, vice president.

The executive committee consists of the officers with Benjamin S. Pouzner of the Sunday Telegram and William H. Bolger of the Courier-Citizen.

From the purely advertising standpoint, the purposes of the club are: to bring together men and women engaged in advertising in all its various departments; to work for truth and honesty in all forms of advertising; to help in creating new ideas in advertising by providing a clearing house to which each member may contribute, and from which each member may derive benefit; to study and improve methods in advertising for the purpose of promoting the commercial interests of Lowell; to stimulate greater interest in advertising among the merchants and manufacturers of Lowell in order to create a bigger, better business for Lowell; to promote friendship among its members through acquaintance, talks on timely trade topics, educational work and frequent general meetings. Among the proposed activities of the near future are a big summer outing; a monster souvenir dinner and educational courses in advertising and selling in the fall.

THE SCHEMING CIRCLE

In order to arouse more "pep" and create more general interest in the club, the secretary selected twenty real live and interested members, dubbed them "The Scheming Circle," and he has been kept busy since their first meeting, in keeping up with their activities.

This "Scheming Circle" has proven the life of the club. The members are enthusiastic and full of ideas for the benefit of the club and the community. At almost every meeting there is some stunt pulled off which originated in the Scheming Circle. This group of twenty members acts somewhat as a steering committee and at the meeting of the club on June 14, they were designated as such.

One of the big things which the Scheming Circle has accomplished is that of bringing in one hundred and eighty-two members within six days, thus increasing the membership from far below one hundred to two hundred and fifty.

Whatever scheming is done by this circle is solely to promote the aims of the club and thus to benefit Lowell.

Edward J. Cooney was elected chairman of the Scheming Circle and all the Scheming Circle members recognize him as the czar of activities.

Another important matter which was taken up recently by the Scheming Circle, particularly through the efforts of Dr. Chas. L. Sweetser, was consideration of methods of boosting Lowell-made products. As a result, Lowell ice cream manufacturers have organized an association to conduct a campaign to encourage the public to eat only Lowell-made ice cream.

HIGH HONORS FOR EX-PRES. TAFT

Britain's Foremost Statesmen,
Jurists and Lawyers Join
in Spontaneous Reception

Royal House Sends Greetings

—Taft Pays Tribute to
British in U. S.

LONDON, June 20.—(By the Associated Press)—Britain's foremost statesmen, jurists and lawyers and a great body of American friends joined in an impressive reception to William Howard Taft, chief justice of the United States, upon his first public appearance in England last night. He was the guest of honor at the Pitts' reception, at which five members of the cabinet, many former cabinet ministers and the greatest legal minds in the country lent their presence. Rarely before has a visiting American received such a spontaneous welcome.

The King, the Prince of Wales and the Duke of Connaught sent messages of greeting and the Earl of Balfour and Very Rev. William Ralph Inge, dean of St. Paul's, testified to the affection and admiration in which Mr. Taft is held by the English people. Mr. Taft was introduced by the Earl of Balfour, who expressed the hope that the distinguished visitor would not measure the warmth of Great Britain's greeting by the prevailing chilly weather.

"Our climate may be changeable, but our hearts are constant and true," he said. "The high esteem in which we hold the former president is not one that will change with the winds."

His auditors listened with rapt attention to Mr. Taft's description of the American republic and his explanation of America's policy of foreign aloofness and non-intervention for the divergence between the two peoples. They vigorously applauded when he declared that the sinister activities of hyphenated groups in the United States were "overwhelmed by public opinion, and that among naturalized Americans none were more loyal than British and Canadians."

Mr. Taft was followed by Dean Inge, who pleaded for greater solidarity between the two nations.

Those who sat at the principal table with Lord Desborough, Chief Justice Taft and Ambassador Harvey included the Archbishop of Canterbury, the Earl of Balfour, the Earl of Derby, the Earl of Devonshire, Viscount Cave, Lord Buckmaster, Lord Sumner and James M. Beck, solicitor general of the United States.

The other guests included Viscount Astor, the American consul general, Robert P. Skinner and the staff of the American embassy.

Mr. Taft proceeded briefly to review the history of the relations between Great Britain and America, in the course of which he said: "No trouble arises between the two countries that we of America do not all of us look forward to its settlement either by negotiation or by arbitration. Any other event is not considered for a moment. This American state of mind is a constant factor in our relations."

COBURN'S FINE FINISHES

For Fine Homes

Enamels Brushes

Why not plan to have the interior of your home painted during the vacation period? The rooms can be repainted and decorated while the family is away, and they will escape the odor of fresh paint. "Home, Sweet Home" will surely look good in its new finish of paint, enamel or varnish.

Suppose next time you try Coburn's kind of bargain. Suppose instead of buying a price—you buy a paint. If some of Coburn's paints and finishes cost a little more a gallon than other paints, it is because they are worth more.

Coburn's paints outwear ordinary paints; they withstand rubbing, scrubbing and washing. They dry promptly and they come in unequalled colors. Suppose you test Coburn's Paints and try them and make them prove their worth to you.

The few dollars expended for painting and varnishing the interior of your home will be worth many times their cost in appearance and preservation. THE BRIGHTNESS AND CHEER COST YOU NOTHING

Coburn's Interior Preservative is a wonderful varnish for interior woodwork. It may be rubbed or polished. Quart $1.20

The Paint and Oil People Since 1837

It sometimes produces an apparent indifference or lack of excitement on the part of our people over irritating issues that is misleading to the British observer."

He alluded to another source of misunderstanding—the gigantic experiment which America was engaged in trying to Americanize masses of immigrants congregated in large cities where they retained the same environment as in their own home countries and did not feel the Americanizing influences to which earlier immigrants were subjected and whose home and racial prejudices had not been mitigated, as had been hoped, by living under the American flag.

Mr. Taft then referred to the reaction following the overwhelming strain of the war and the interval of convalescence, which was not a period of good nature or common-sense, and which all the allied peoples were now experiencing.

"We must regard bickerings and unreasoning sensitiveness," he added, "not as a discouragement, but as a symptom of recovery."

He was unable to touch upon the question of why America did not enter the League of Nations, but could only say, looking back over the controversy, that American membership in the league would have had to overcome a deep-seated popular conviction, confirmed by a century and a quarter's experience of the wisdom of America keeping out of European entanglements.

DANCING PARTY AT THE KASINO

In place of the regular drill Friday night, the St. Peter's Cadets held an informal dancing party and the affair proved to be a source of enjoyment for all who attended. The affair was conducted in the Kasino and proved to be one of the most enjoyable of the season. The program opened at 8 o'clock with a welcome to the cadets by the orchestra and this was followed by general dancing, which was continued until a seasonable hour. During intermission entertainment numbers were given by Miss Annabel Higgins and pupils, James Doherty and Doris Clarke, Joe cream and cake were served by Mrs. H. Howe, Miss A. McDermott, Miss J. Reynolds and Miss N. Coughlin. The arrangements were made by the following committee, under the direction of Rev. Fr. Manion: George Reynolds, general manager; William Hornby, assistant; James Doherty, Joseph director; Patrick Winn, Thomas Maguire, George Marshall, Charles Bushy, aids.

TEACHERS COUNCIL ELECTS OFFICERS

Meeting in Room 1 of the high school at 4:15 yesterday afternoon, the Teachers' council, to which representatives were elected at a meeting of the Teachers' organization last week, elected officers as follows: President, Henry H. Harris; vice-president, Thomas Ginty; secretary, Miss Margaret Garvey. These officers, whose election was the sole purpose of the meeting, will hold office during the 1922-1923 school term.

NOTRE DAME ALUMNAE

The three-day convention of the National Federation of Notre Dame Alumnae will be formally opened on Saturday morning, June 24, at Notre Dame academy, Roxbury. From the far west and south will come about 150 delegates and friends.

On Friday evening, June 23, the Massachusetts chapter will entertain the visitors at the Pop concert in Boston Symphony hall. The entire floor and balcony have been reserved for delegates from the 17 Massachusetts alumnae and their friends. Conductor Jacobella has arranged a special program for the occasion. Musical compliments to the southern and western delegates will be given.

The banquet will be held Saturday night, June 24, at 7:30 at the Copple-Plaza.

On Sunday, June 25, from 4 to 7, a tea will be given on the beautiful grounds of Notre Dame academy, Roxbury. Every member of the Lowell alumnae is invited to be present at this tea.

Lowell Notre Dame alumnae will send a very fine delegation to all three affairs.

GIRLS' VOCATIONAL SCHOOL

At the annual commencement exercises of the girls' vocational school in the Merrill school at 10 a. m. on June 27, it is announced that Dr. Emma E. Y. Shugart will be the speaker of the day. This is thought to be the first instance in which a woman member of the school committee has been the speaker at graduation exercises of a public school in Lowell.

NORTH CHELMSFORD WATER DISTRICT

The annual meeting of the North Chelmsford water district will be held in the lower town hall, North village, Monday evening, June 26, and with the exception of one article, which calls for an appropriation to meet the expense of a second survey of the district with a view to establishing a sewer system, the warrant contains only articles referring to routine business of the department.

The 16th annual report of the water commissioners, which is ready for distribution, discloses the fact that a sum of $11,762.90 has been spent for the maintenance of the district during the past year, leaving a balance on hand of $2890.53. The total bonded indebtedness of the district is $49,200 and it is being reduced at the rate of $3400 per annum.

There has only been one extension made during the past year, at an expense of $955.02. A total of 24,007,364 gallons of water were pumped. The commissioners state that it will be necessary to drive several new wells before next winter and also advise regarding the original wells or furnish an entire new system of wells in order to provide ample fire protection and be in a position to give an unlimited water supply to the entire district. This would entail an expenditure of about $1000, which would have to be raised by taxation, unless the secretary is authorized to make use of the two $1000 bonds that are still in his possession. With a valuation of $3,153,350, the rate amounts to 70 cents on every $1000.

RECITAL BY PUPILS OF ELLA L. GALE

The pupils of Ella Leona Gale gave a pianoforte recital last evening in Kitson hall before a large audience of parents and friends. The well arranged program was faultlessly carried out by the young pupils and merited much applause from the audience. The following took part: Dorothy Mellen, Estelle Laurin, Marion Jenkins, Elizabeth Shepard, Charles A. Lorman, Alice M. Palmer, Mildred Johnson, Ralph Butler, Harold Bradley, Albert Mertrud, Dorothy M. Lorman, Margaret E. Holgate, Emma M. Chisholm, Hazel M. Estes and Ida Mellen. Mary E. Wetherell, contralto, and Doris M. Gale, soprano, assisted.

RUSH DOWN STREAM AS AMUNDSEN SAILED FOR NORTH POLE

Raging Currents Hurl Logs Against Boom at Martin's Ferry, Causing Break

MANCHESTER, N. H., June 20.—The raging currents in the Merrimack river this morning threw logs against the boom at Martin's Ferry with such force that it broke, allowing hundreds of logs to rush down the stream to the Ameskeag dam, there to go over the falls to the rapids below. Owners of the lumber were unable to estimate the loss this morning, but admitted that it would probably be heavy. No attempt was made to check the tumbling logs as the dam because of the high water which made the use of boats too dangerous. There were 800,000 feet of logs above the dam before the boom broke.

State highway agents stated that dirt roads throughout the state have been badly gaged by the rain of the past few days, making immediate repair necessary.

(By N.E.A. Service)
SEATTLE, Wash., June 20.—A 7-year plunge into the frozen Arctic—they're off!

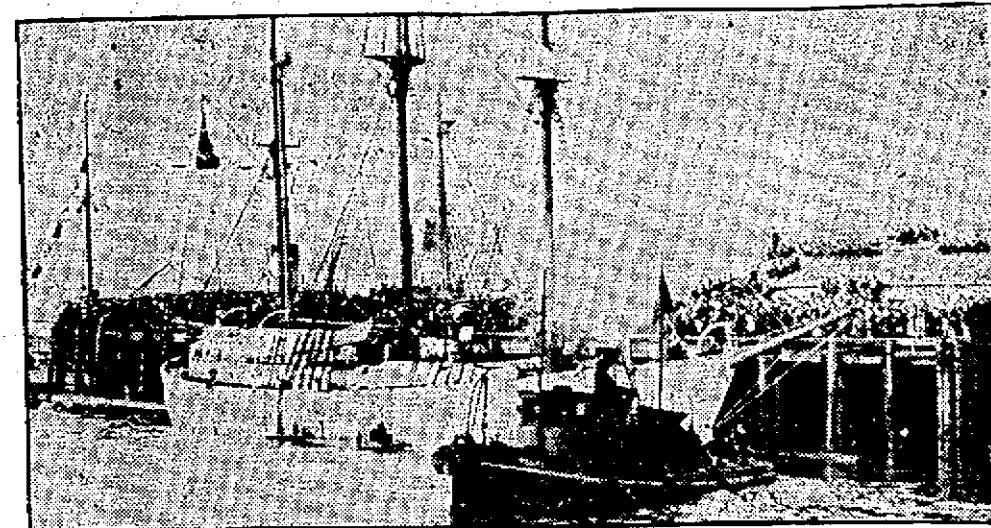

Vast throngs crowded the wharves of Seattle when Ronald Amundsen, famed Norwegian explorer and discoverer of the South pole, and his crew of nine set sail for the North pole.

Amundsen plans to become frozen in the Arctic ice floes and drift with them across the pole.

The trip is to be scientific and the party is equipped with the finest set of scientific apparatus ever taken north. They sail under the flag of Norway.

Enough food is carried to last the full seven years though it is possible that the round trip will be completed in five.

Organdie, in delicate shades, scalloped and outlined with white batiste is a new idea in lingerie. Value in delicate shades is also very much favored.

AMUNDSEN'S SCHOONER MAUD CLEARING FROM SEATTLE, BOUND FOR THE NORTH POLE

TO KILL HOME WRECKER

Armed Man in Auto Chased and Beat Train Carrying His Wife and Farmhand

LOUISVILLE, Ky., June 20.—Coakley Howe, whose wife ran away with his farmhand, raced a train from New Haven, Ky., to Louisville, in his automobile last night and beat the train. He was disarmed by the police but they met the train for him and arrested the farmhand, William Bray and Mrs. Irene Howe.

"I prayed four hours to find out whether it would be a sin to kill you," Howe told Bray, "and I found out that it wouldn't. I intended to send 10 bullets into your body but the police wouldn't let me. I promise you that if ever I see you again I will put you out of existence. I suggest that you join the army or navy and stay away from life."

Bray sought refuge in a cell for the night, and then departed from Kentucky, while Howe and his wife returned to New Haven today.

Taft "CAPTURED"

Surrenders to London's Men of Pen, Pencil and Camera

LONDON, June 20.—(By the Associated Press)—Large forces of London men of the pen, the pencil and the camera, laid siege to William Howard Taft today and captured him bodily. Their ranks comprised newspaper men, photographers, motion picture operators and cartoonists. The chief justice of the United States finally surrendered to all four divisions of his besiegers, being interviewed, photographed and caricatured.

The former president is being surrounded with luncheon, banquet and miscellaneous festivities, and it is feared he will not be able to give as much time as he expected to the study of English judicial procedure.

HONORARY DEGREES AT SMITH COLLEGE

NORTHAMPTON, June 20.—The honorary degree of Doctor of Humane Letters was conferred by Smith college today upon three Smith graduates. They are Ada Louise Comstock, dean of Smith college since 1912 and president of the American Association of University Women; Vida Dutton Scudder, professor of English literature at Wellesley college; and (in absentia) Charlotte Richards Willard, principal of the Anatolia Girls school at Marsovan, Turkey.

President William Allan Neilson conferred the degree of bachelor of arts upon 463 seniors, the largest class ever graduated from Smith.

FORMER SPRINGFIELD EDITOR DEAD

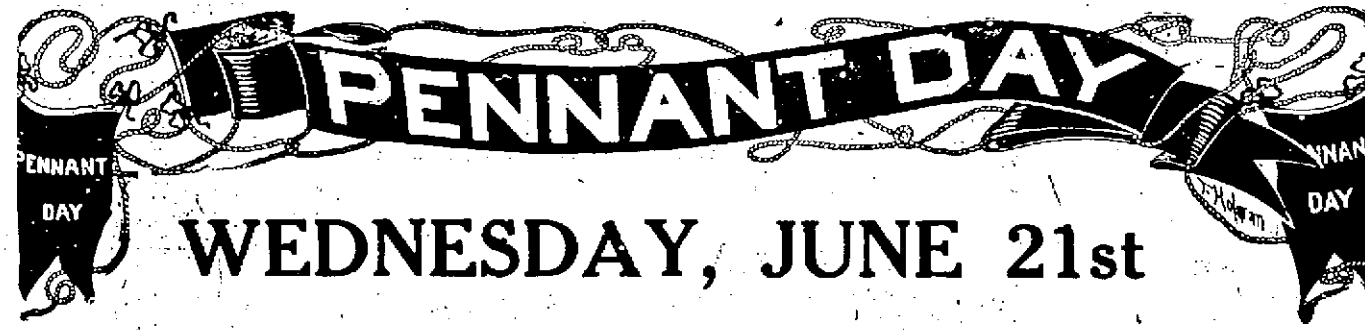

SPRINGFIELD, June 20.—Charles Coolidge Whiting, 80, for many years an editor and writer for the Springfield Republican, died today in his summer home in Otis. He became connected with the Republican as local editor in 1872. Two years later he became literary editor and held that position until he retired in 1918.

DINNER GOWNS

ROSE PETALS
Rose petals of taffeta are sprinkled all over the georgette frocks for summer. They have a very charming suggestion of summer and airiness. Needles to say, they are very inexpensive decorations for the home dresser.

RHACH PUMP
A smart beach pump is of black satin, cut on the popular sandal line. It has rubber soles and a low comfortable heel, and is equally at home on land or sea.

OPPOSES PETTY POLITICS

Secretary Mellon of the United States treasury deserves the gratitude of the nation for the rebuke he has administered to those who would attempt to introduce petty politics into his department. Mr. Mellon is opposed to throwing competent men off the payrolls to give place to incompetent, a policy that has recently become popular with the republican bosses at Washington. Here is what he says in reference to this tendency to play politics at the expense of the departments:

"The affairs of the treasury are of too great importance to allow of interference in its proper conduct through the introduction of petty politics."

It would be well indeed if the head of every government department would adopt a similar attitude toward the politicians who want to fill the offices with their political henchmen and professional office seekers. Mr. Mellon draws the line on petty politics when it comes to demoralizing the public service.

It seems that a formidable petition signed by 150 senators and representatives was sent to President Harding asking for a clean sweep of the democrats in the treasury department and that republicans be appointed in their places. One Higmer Dover of Ohio had been appointed assistant secretary and as he was trained in the business of distributing patronage, it was expected that there would be a rich harvest after he entered the department. It was found, however, that the very same came into conflict with Commissioner Blair when he tried to reorganize the internal revenue department, and in order to check his activities Secretary Mellon came out with the statement quoted above, which does him great credit.

APPEALING TO MARS

True the planet Mars comes a million miles closer in a day, but yet it is 42,000,000 miles away, a distance over which the most powerful telescope has little power to penetrate. It is true that with the advance in electrical and astronomical science, the observatories will probably be able to get a more perfect view of the surface of Mars than ever before; but beyond this, no great discovery is expected. The white lines supposed to be canals on the surface of Mars have always interested the astronomers as they indicate that the planet is inhabited by sentient beings. On that point, however, there is no definite conclusion. Yet it is generally supposed that as the earth is one of the planets, it is not the only one that is inhabited; but whether by beings resembling man or of a constitution entirely different is also a matter of mere speculation. Marconi has been trying for some time to get a response from his wireless messages directed at Mars, but as yet has not received any that he can identify as such. Indeed there is a question whether the wireless waves are carried into the luminiferous ether much beyond our atmosphere. Thus the hope of communicating with Mars is based upon a great many uncertainties that are not likely to be removed. Yet it is well to pursue these lines of research and speculation as it is only by this means that the real facts in the case, if at all attainable, can be finally determined.

The imagination can readily picture scientists on the planet Mars trying to communicate with us. Just as we are trying to reach them; but as already stated, our efforts in this respect are based solely upon speculation. That, however, does not preclude the discovery and final proof that what is now a supposition may ultimately be established as a scientific reality.

In August, 1921, the scientists will get a still closer view of Mars when the planet will be only 34,500,000 miles from the earth. The powerful telescopes may then be able to reveal some new facts bearing upon the great question as to the existence of life on Mars.

A LAME DEFENSE

In Philadelphia a man is charged with manslaughter because of having killed a woman while driving an auto, as the police claim, while he was in a state of intoxication.

Against the latter charge the defendant makes sweeping denials, asserting that he is suffering from locomotor ataxia and hence unsteady on his feet. But the officers smelled alcohol off his breath and this, he says, was from medicine used for his ailment. It is true that alcoholic liquor may be procured, and properly, for certain diseases, but we are not aware that the disease mentioned is one of them. As it happens that the defendant was engaged in the enforcement of the prohibition law, his defense is somewhat similar to that of the man who showed his temperance pledge in police court as proof that he was not guilty of the charge of drunkenness.

THAT PRIOR REVENUE

The present administration will be able to make a financial showing this year that will be misleading to the nation from the fact that a fund of $176,000 surplus revenue from past years is being drawn upon for use in the department without affecting the tax rate. It is as if the city had drawn upon the trust funds of the city to meet current expenses. The question arises why was this fund not considered when the appropriations were being made. Was it strategy by which it was ignored until the tax levy was fixed? Or was it that nobody knew anything about it just then.

The amount of this fund if raised in the tax levy would add $1.35 to the tax rate, so that if the tax rate remains same as last year, it will mean that the expenditures represented a tax rate about $1.35 higher.

SPECIALISTS

Brill, leading American psychoanalyst, "kiddie" on famous list of questions which Inventor Edison submits to applicants for jobs.

To answer all the Edison questions correctly, says Brill, would reveal only a general smattering of knowledge; superficial brain hash—instead of thoroughness in any one thing.

Maybe so, maybe not. A question revealing that an applicant has baseball-phobia might be sufficient proof that his mind would seldom be on his work.

Brill is right about thoroughness, in this age when success comes only by specialization. That's the chief trouble with our government, forever being turned over to new experimenters instead of specialists.

RADIO SWINDLES

Be careful about buying stock in new radio corporations. Some of them, glittering the market with "stuffs" made to sell and not of much use, will cause investors to lose millions.

This warning comes from Alexander Elsemann, president of National Radio chamber of commerce.

The radio investment craze starts out surprisingly like the big boom in worthless oil stocks. About 400 new corporations a month are being organized by promoters to manufacture radio apparatus. The ones that will survive as excellent investments probably can be counted on your fingers and toes.

The same principle can be applied to nearly every new industry. Swindlers keep up with the times.

CHANCE

When Camille Flammarion was five years old, he saw an eclipse of the sun reflected in a bucket of water. That aroused his interest in the stars. Today he is a celebrated French astronomer. Flammarion suggests that he might have followed some other line of work, if chance had not led him to the water pail.

Chance—the possibility of the unexpected happening at any moment—is what makes life interesting. The laws of chance have a lot to do with our careers. Many successful men are creations of chance, or luck, though they try to pin it on hard work and not watching the clock. But it would not be wise to avoid hard work and depend upon chance. Most people who do that are disappointed in the end. Chance usually favors those who are not looking for her favors.

INDIANS

In Canada, 300 Indians march on Point Pelee government park, saying they will seize it as their property. That the royal mounted police have been called on, to turn them back, is the official report—which probably means a half dozen of the redcoats will handle the job.

In a similar riot in Texas the Rangers were sent for. A special train pulled in and one Texas ranger got off.

"What!" shouted the chief of police. "Only send one ranger?" "There's only one riot," retorted the ranger and he felt competent to quell it.

The fact that the Saco-Lowell is to increase its plant indicates that its business abroad is growing. Every country of any importance is now planning to manufacture its own textiles. China, India, and Japan are extending the textile business very rapidly and now, by the aid of Germany, it is to be extended in Russia. Thus the Saco-Lowell company has an ever-increasing demand for textile machinery. Students from other lands are here to learn the textile art in order to be able to extend it in their own countries.

The one great drawback to New England textile prosperity is the bitter conflict between the manufacturers and their employees. While they wrangle over the wage question, the business is fast going elsewhere and once lost, will never return. Think it over, gentlemen.

When next the mayor nominates for the board of assessors, he will have to designate which assessor each nominee is to displace. Otherwise it will be expedient for the council to pass them up. We do not want to overdo the injunction business.

J. H. Lamphire, a Nahant fisherman, lost his life in an effort to save two boys from drowning. He set out to reach them in a leaky boat and unable to swim, sank with the boat. Another proof of the criminality of not teaching every boy how to swim.

Attorney General Allen has had his ear to the ground awaiting a call to serve the people as governor but as yet, it seems the expected call has not been forthcoming. Does the commonwealth undervalue his services or does he overestimate his popularity?

It seems now that June has paid in full for the mistake she made on her arrival in sending a spell of August weather.

The city should not be obliged to pay for unnecessary litigation brought on by the political schemes of its officials.

A Thought

Justice and humanity have been fighting their way, like a thunderstorm, against the organized selfishness of human nature. God has given manhood but one law to succeed—order and exact justice.—Wendell Phillips.

He Didn't Dare to

It was during the impenetrable of a jury the following colloquy occurred: "Married or single?" "I have been married for five years, your honor." "If you formed or expressed an opinion?" "Not for five years, your honor."

Today's Word

Today's word is moribund. It's pronounced mor-i-bund, with accent on the first syllable. It means—in a dying state; near death. It comes from "Latin mori" to die. It's used like this: "Many people believe a new political alignment in the United States to be near and that both old party organizations are moribund."

Very Handy Book

"Here's a book," said the agent, "which you can afford to be without." "I never read," answered the victim. "Well, buy it for your children. I'm single—I have no family. All I have is a dog." "Well, don't you want a nice, handy book to throw at the dog now and then?"

What's the Use?

Sam boarded a trolley, and after a few whispered words with the motorman, hurried to the exit door at the middle of the car, where the conductor collected fares. The conductor asked: "Why do you want to get off so soon, Sam?" "Well, sah, Ah wants to go to the 67th an' Cedar avenue." "What business do you have there?" "Well, there isn't no 67th an' Cedar avenue!" The conductor replied: "Well, there isn't! Sam continued: 'Well, don't you want to go to the 67th an' Cedar avenue?'"

Wrong Passenger

A young man was wheeling a perambulator and was in front of the house. He looked out but contented. "My dear," came a voice from the upper window of the house. "Now let me alone," he called back. "We are all right." An hour later the same voice called in earnest pleading tones: "An hour, dear!" "Well, what do you want?" he responded. "Anything wrong in the house?" "No, dear; but you have been wheeling Doris's doll all the afternoon. Isn't it time for the baby to have a turn?"

Just Fringing

Margaret L. O'Brien, secretary of the Domestic Servants' league, said in an address in Chicago: "If a servant is a hard worker, she has a right to brag about it. The thing, however, shouldn't be carried too far. A missionary in India was waited on by a native Indian, an applicant for the post of cook. The missionary said at the end: 'I guess I'll engage you by the way, though, what's your religion?' 'Begg pardon, sah,' said the Indian. 'I am heathen.' 'Heathen? What do you mean by that?' said the missionary. 'I am worshiper of idols and stones.' 'My gracious!' said the missionary. 'I'm afraid I can't employ such a character as that.' 'Begg pardon, sah,' said the Indian. 'For thy dear sake work so hard hard no to worship anything.'—Detroit Free Press.

"Love Me, Love My Dog"

We were two comrades splendidly matched. Neither afraid of rough weather; There could not be twin more closely attached. As we took the road together. (Loved you—the fire in your blue gray eye. The freedom life of your shoulder. You led me, I knew, but I could not guess why. You said, "You will never be older!" We were two comrades. . . but there was a third: Behind me he docilely trotted, Then caught at my hand—then begged for a word to his place allotted. That third—twas my dog—and you loved him. You called him a pampered minion! Why was it that your forbearance forgave. And beat my poor dog opinion? "If you loved me, you'd love what I love!" I cried. . . and now we are parted. My dog, very meekly, trots on by my side— Oh, why am I so broken hearted! By EDITH M. THOMAS in the New York Herald.

THE MAN ABOUT TOWN

The removal of an entire house from one foundation to another is indeed quite a feat, especially when the building is one of large proportions. On Sixth street, opposite St. Michael's church, a two tenement structure was moved from its former location to another on Fourth street, two blocks distant. But a feat of this kind is now easily performed. The trick was done, however, in short order, and the house is now resting on its newly erected support on Fourth street, none the worse for its experience.

Was your cellar flooded by the rain of yesterday? If not, you may consider yourself lucky, for there were a few thousand basements where old Jupiter Pluvius vented his wrath to the extent of heavy and unwelcome apoplexy. A certain district in the city, on descending the investigation of prohibition officials.

The tinted travel section of The Sun has made a great hit with the children of the city, who were quick to take advantage of the opportunity to spend their spare time in coloring the picture which appears daily in this paper. It is a fascinating pastime and one that is indulged in, not only by children, but by adults as well. A thing like this is a real novelty and a source of great pleasure to all. In a household where there is a large family it is necessary to buy more than one paper so that each member can try his hand at the art. In this way competition results to see which one is best adapted to the coloring. If you haven't tried it yet, get busy at any drug store. It is used like gold cream—Judy.

less the purpose of the appropriation is recommended by a message from the representative of the crown.

Article 38 declared that bills may be initiated by either house.

Article 40 covers the withholding of royal assent. The representative of the crown, in withholding assent to a bill, must act in accordance with the usage in the case of the Dominion of Canada. Bills shall be without force unless royal assent is given them within a year.

Article 43.—The parliament may create subordinate legislatures, but without powers over the army, navy, finance and such national subjects.

Article 45 gives the parliament of the Irish Free State exclusive right to regulate the raising and maintenance of such armed forces as are mentioned in the Anglo-Irish treaty and such of the armed forces of the crown.

Article 46 provides that "except in case of actual invasion, the Irish Free State shall not be committed to active participation in any war without the assent of the Free State parliament."

Article 46 A bill passed by both houses may be suspended for 90 days on the written demand of two-fifths of the members of either house.

Article 48.—Amendments to the constitution must be submitted to a referendum. A majority of the voters on the register must vote and the amendment will fail to pass unless a majority of the voters recorded in its favor.

There will be a council of aid and advice in the government, responsible to the chamber. Article 54.—Ministers who are members of parliament shall alone be responsible for all executive affairs, whether of policy, negotiation or executive acts. The executive council shall meet as a collective authority, but each minister shall be responsible to the chamber for his department.

Article 63.—The courts shall comprise courts of first instance and of final appeal, and the supreme court, and also courts of local, limited jurisdiction.

Such jurisdiction cannot be exercised in any area in which civil courts are open or capable of being held, and no person shall be removed from one area to another for the purpose of creating such jurisdiction.

Article 72.—Laws not inconsistent with the constitution in force in the free state when the constitution becomes operative shall continue until repealed or amended by parliament.

Article 77.—After the constitution comes into operation the house of parliament shall in pursuance of the free state agreement act as a parliament exercising all the powers conferred by the constitution on the chamber. The first election for the chamber shall be as soon as possible after the expiration of such period.

Berton Bralley's Daily Poems FOUNDATIONS

With pick and drill and dynamite
The workmen labor, day and night,
To build, on everlasting rock,
Foundations proof against each shock.
They dig and delve beneath the soil
Yet, to the passerby, their toil
Appears, somehow, of little worth—
Merely a deep hole in the earth!

Then, overnight—or so it seems—
High in the air a structure gleams,
And many-storied towers rise.
In strength and beauty to the skies.
For once the strong foundation's laid
Full swiftly all the rest is made.
And thus we watch it lift and grow
Based on the work that doesn't show.

With men it's oftentimes the same,
They lift themselves to sudden fame,
Or it seems sudden—till we find
What toil of body and of mind,
What years of struggle and of stress
Have laid foundations for success.
For when that work is done at last
The superstructure rises fast.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

One of the most widely discussed pictures of the age is now showing at the Merrimack Square theatre. It is entitled "The Queen of Sheba." The romantic story of the Queen of Sheba and her love affair with King Solomon, as told by William Fox, is worth watching for the grandeur and colossal stage settings alone. It shows the ancient Orient in its full glory, and the manner in which the different "sets" are arranged reflects much credit upon the director, J. Gordon Edwards.

While the love scenes and other parts of the picture are excellent, it remains for the great chariot race scene to produce a real thrill. Lovers of the silver screen have been thrilled at the sight of fearless auto drivers encircling a dirt track or making their way over deep mountains and rough roads at breakneck pace, but this chariot race seems to put them all in the shade.

In the race are six chariots, each drawn by four wild-eyed horses. Their drivers seem to defy death with a lightness of heart that is almost unthinkable. The setting for the race is ideal as it shows a big amphitheatre which has in it 5000 or more madly cheering people. The show is a purely a rare sight for people of this age of autos and airplanes to be watching.

STRAND THEATRE

Bert Lytell on a program is a sensation in itself, but Bert Lytell and Frank Mayo on the same program is a rare treat. The Strand is noted for rare treats and for this reason the two big stars are appearing the first three days of the week in "The Right That Failed" and "Tracked to Earth," respectively. "The Right That Failed" is a romance of the prize ring and was written by a genuine prize fighter, a graduate for the Saturday Evening Post. Mr. Lytell portrays the role of a high-brow prize fighter, who, ashamed of his profession, goes out to the daughter of a prominent lawyer at a favorite summer resort. Johnny, the highest paid prize fighter in the world, is the one who is to arrest her for violating a "Keep Off the Grass" sign in Central park. New York. Johnny, the Strand is a real her and when she assumes that he is a member of her own caste, he does not want to disillusion her. His own lustful aspirations are boom when he knocks out "Kid Reagan," the most dangerous contender for the championship. The knockout is made by the use of his right hand, however, and he is forced to take long rest. During this period of rest he meets the girl of his choice, and keeping his love he is obliged to fight a rival auto. His fighting days are over, however, for it is here that he meets his "right fight." It is a wonderful climax.

In "Tracked to Earth," Frank Mayo impersonates an supposed horse thief and in hiding is brought face to face with the muzzle of a gun. His capturer is a beautiful young girl. He is gradually won over by the girl and finally wins her completely worth-seeing. The experiences and the difficulties encountered and overcome by the fighting Frank will make you hold your seat until the happy conclusion.

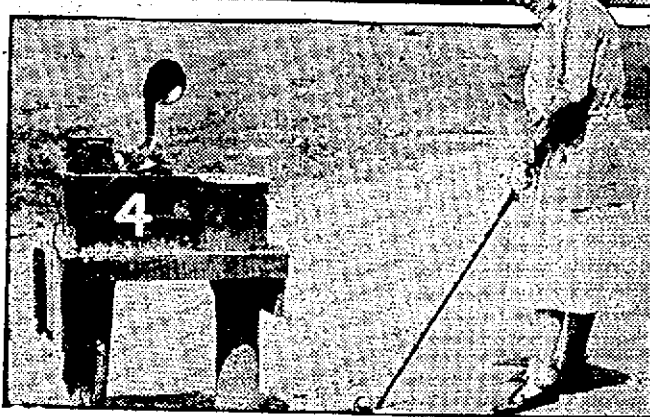

A comedy and a weekly complete very interesting bill.

LEARNING TO PLAY BY RADIO. ABOVE, BILLIARDS; BELOW, GOLF

Learn to play by radio.
Time was when a golf aspirant was seen on the links with a book in one hand and golf sticks in the other. Or he had an instructor with him.
That still is the practice for many a novice on the golf, tennis or other fields.
But if you want to advance with the times, set up a radio and listen to an expert in instructions from an expert at a broadcasting station.
A well known golf club near New York has installed a radio system at each tee. At regular hours, an instructor broadcasts his lessons to novices on the links. That enlarges his class manifold.

Or, if a player is wanted at the club house, a call is sent out for him by the radio. That eliminates much footwork for messengers.
In billiards, too, radio is playing its part as means of instruction. Instead of "expert" advice from the onlookers, the new player gets real help from a recognized expert by radio.
The same kind of instruction is expected in other fields of sport.

Expert Shows Why Winter
Is Best for Radio Fans

STRENGTH OF SIGNALS RECEIVED AT WASHINGTON

By PAUL F. GODFREY
America's Foremost Radio Authority
Don't days are poor days for radio reception.
The best results are obtained during the winter months.
This fact is illustrated graphically in the chart which shows the strength of signals received at Washington from Philadelphia (represented by the dotted line) and Norfolk (solid line), located respectively at distances of 110 and 150 miles.
These curves were recorded over a period of approximately two years and give a fair idea of the relative strength of reception from month to month.
Both of these stations were operating on a wave length of 1000 meters. Had they used a shorter length, 300 meters, for example, the variation in signal strength would have been considerably greater.

More Static
Not only are the signals weaker during the summer months than during the winter but the amount of interference due to natural causes (static) is greatly increased.
Radio cannot fully come into its own until some means of counteracting or offsetting these natural effects have been devised.
On the shorter wave lengths, the rise and fall of signal strength is also very marked at sunset and sunrise. During the night, the absorption of the electrical energies caused by the sunlight are absent and, depending on several other factors, extremely small signal energies may penetrate to great distances.
This effect is most noticeable during the winter.
Even during the daytime in cold weather, particularly if it happens to be dark, signals from small stations have been received at great distances.

Best Results
The best results are recorded between 120 p. m. and 3:30 a. m. during the winter.
Winter night time conditions are responsible for the record-breaking reception of low-power stations at great distances.
American amateurs spanned the Atlantic during December.
British naval vessels off the coasts of Australia heard a low-power telephone station on the Pacific coast last winter.
But dog days are hot days.
And reception is comparatively poor.

PAY INCREASED IN LAUNDRIES
BOSTON, June 20.—To keep pace with the increase in the cost of living since 1915, the State Minimum Wage Commission yesterday issued a decree raising by an average of approximately 75 per cent the minimum wages of women in the laundry establishments of the state.
The decree increases the minimum week's pay of experienced women employees from $5 to $13.50; learners and apprentices are increased from $6 and $7.50 a week to $12.50; and all other female workers are raised from $6 to $11 a week.
The decree takes effect July 1 and in its decree the commission says:
"An employee shall be deemed experienced who has been employed in the occupation for at least five months.
"These rates are based on full time work, by which is meant the full number of hours per week required by employers and permitted by laws of the commonwealth.
"An employee of less than ordinary ability may be paid less than the prescribed minimum wage, provided that a special license is obtained from the commission in accordance with the law."

LOWELL MAN SENTENCED
Alexander P. Shennan of Vernon avenue, this city, was yesterday sentenced to five years and one month to the reformatory by Justice Brown at the criminal session of the superior court at East Cambridge, after being found guilty of rape. There were two counts against the prisoner, but only one was pressed, that of Sept. 23, 1921, the other being placed on file.
Shennan is now being made of flesh and snake skins.

NOT CANDIDATE FOR U. S. SENATOR

NORTHAMPTON, June 20.—Former Governor Samuel W. McCall, announced yesterday that he would not be a candidate for the republican nomination for United States senator.
Mr. McCall, who was here to attend a meeting of the board of trustees of Smith college, issued the following statement:
"I shall not be a candidate for the republican nomination for United States senator. Since I had neither decided upon nor announced my candidacy, this statement may seem superfluous, but I am making it in deference to the opinion of those who think otherwise."

LAMP SHADES
Lamp shades are much less colorful and figured than they used to be, and they tone much better into the general scheme of the room. Very-colored shades, of silk or parchment, have become popular for bedroom use. They are admirably in the chintz-hung room.

How to Play Baseball

How Pitcher Co-operates With Infielders

By BILLY EVANS
American League Umpire and Sporting Editor, N.E.A. Service

Sometimes the batter crosses the shortstop by doing the unexpected and hitting contrary to his usual custom. However, the pitcher is often more responsible for the infield being crossed.

For instance, there is a left-handed batter up, known as a right fielder. With a runner on first and such a batter up, it becomes the duty of the shortstop to cover. The second baseman moves over in the direction of first and the first baseman plays only in order to hold the runner close and to prevent him getting a big lead. It is the duty of the pitcher to keep the ball inside on such a hit.

Should the pitcher slip up on his control and get the ball outside, it is possible that the batter may hit it left field, though the spot vacated by the shortstop.

Know Signals

The shortstop, as well as the second baseman, should be perfectly familiar with the signals of the pitcher and catcher.

Knowing what is going to be pitched not only assists them in properly playing the batsman, but also is a dash to them as to who should cover on certain pitches.

We will assume there is a base runner on second. The batsman is a right field hitter and the second baseman is playing well over toward first. The runner on second base is taking a big lead. As the second baseman and shortstop watch the catcher's signals, they note he has flashed the pitch-out sign.

No Boundary

Since the batsman is a right fielder, the second baseman must continue to play his position. Therefore, on such a play it is up to the shortstop to get over and take the throw that may trap the runner on second. There are really no boundary lines to a shortstop's territory. The best bit of advice I could offer would be for the shortstop to try for every ball within his reach.

Inward Outfield

If left field happens to be a sun field, the shortstop is often forced to go to the aid of the outfielder. Often the fielder, looking directly into the sun, loses sight of a ball which the shortstop, going out often and not looking into the sun, can see.

Take the second baseman, the shortstop figures in many double plays. In that respect, he is the runnerup to the second sacker. For that reason, he, as well as the second baseman, must continue to have a mental picture of the location of second base so that he shall lose no time in looking around for it on close plays.

Trade-mark branded oranges and grapefruit are in special favor in New York.

On Thursday night Louis Lord's outfit will meet the Centralville for the second time in a practice game.

The season's first aggregation started off with eight runs in the first inning, just one less than when the lights shined in the entire five innings. Although held down fairly well during the remainder of the game, they scored four more, winning 12 to 9. The daylighters aver that this will not happen again, and have been waiting patiently for the second game.

On the other hand, the Centralville suffered by both teams last week, the outcome will be watched with interest, for they have been playing the best brand of ball until the last few days.

On Friday night the K. of C. and Massachusetts will have a more strangely enough, the Gantley crew has met no other team since its admission. The first game went to the K. of C. by the score of 2 to 1, showing which way Manager Bob's great deal of encouragement. He has a great number of players to try out, and is expected to break into the ranks of the winners at an early date. He will leave watching in Friday's game, as no other manager could be expected to know Centralville as well as the high ex-lagger.

Although the Centralville and Massachusetts are slated for Saturday, the announcement that the track meet under the auspices of the C.Y.M.C. will be held on that day, has caused another postponement. The attitude of the league has been favorable to the conduct of the meet since it was first announced.

Fitzpatrick Greatest Developer of Athletes

FITZPATRICK IS TO TRACK WHAT CONNIE MACK IS TO BASE BALL

By BILLY EVANS
In baseball Connie Mack stands out as a developer of star players. Mack is one of the few major league managers who takes unknown youngsters from the colleges or sandlots and in a few short years makes stars out of them.

A majority of the major league leaders, when seeking to strengthen their teams simply go out and buy a lot of high-priced minor league stars.

The Chicago White Sox have, Eddie Collins and Amos Strunk, New York boasts Wally Schang, Bob Shawkey, Joe Bush and "Whitney" White, Boston has Joe Judge, Cleveland has Suffy McInnis, Steve O'Neill and Stanley Coveleske.

Like Connie Mack
In college track athletics Keene Fitzpatrick occupies much the same place that Connie Mack holds in major league baseball.

Fitzpatrick stands out as one of the greatest developers of college athletes in the history of the track sport.

In the old days Keene Fitzpatrick, who is now at Princeton, formerly coached at Michigan. While at Michigan he took the relay championships year after year.

The splendid all-round showing of the Princeton university was the outstanding feature of the recent intercollegiate meet. It was a great tribute to the ability of Keene Fitzpatrick.

Despite California's victory, Princeton presented the best balanced machine in the big Harvard meet. The Tigers scored points in every branch of competition.

Trust to God
Getting back to Mike Murphy. During my visit with him I asked the great trainer what he regarded as the most difficult event in the intercollegiate meet. Without the slightest hesitation he replied:

"The 40-yard run because it is a sprint all the way. That interested me and I asked Murphy how he instructed his men to perform in the 40."

"Well, I always tell the boys to run the first 20 yards at top speed, then try to stop the next 20 a little bit faster."

"And what about the final 40 yards?" I asked.

"The simplest must trust to God to get them over the last 40 yards," was Murphy's laconic reply.

Much of Murphy's success as a track coach was due to his remarkable knowledge of anatomy. He knew more about the human body than many doctors. Somehow he could get an athlete in shape after a learned doctor would count him out of the running.

A Second Murphy
Fitzpatrick and Murphy were old cronies. They always swapped ideas. Today Fitzpatrick occupies much the same position as did Mike Murphy because of the ability of Keene Fitzpatrick.

Such of Fitzpatrick's success is due to his knowledge of the anatomy. He is a great conditioner.

YANKS' NEW PARK TO COST $3,000,000
TIGERS ON HEELS OF YANKEES

NEW YORK, N.Y., June 20.—It's a far cry from the Union grounds, Brooklyn, the first baseball enclosure to the Yankees' new baseball park, work on which has just been started. The Union grounds were opened in 1892 at a cost of $750 and had a seating capacity of a few hundred.

The Yankees' new stadium will cost approximately $3,000,000, and will have a seating capacity of 37,000 persons and there will be other seating space to accommodate a crowd of 70,000.

The new stadium will be the biggest baseball plant in the world, as well as a testimonial to the appeal of the great American game.

Faith—Lots of It
In its undertaking the two colonies, Jacob Ruppert and T. L. Huston, both shared business men have shown their faith in the future of baseball.

Colonel Ruppert is exceptionally enthusiastic about it.

So it would seem as if the two people and sometimes we have been compelled to turn away people from the Polo grounds, though it holds over 37,000.

The past two seasons have broken all attendance records for us, and we fully expect we will be able to fill the new park many times in 1923."

Ruth to Blame
Undoubtedly it has been the glamour of the exploit of Babe Ruth that has caused the unprecedented attendance at the big league ball parks the past two seasons.

But many of the thousands who have been drawn to the parks to see the famed slugger have learned to know the game and have become real fans.

So it would seem as if the two colonies have not been overconfident in their work of undertaking the erection of the world's largest ball park.

Hellmann's Struck Stopped
Harry Hellmann, great hitting slugger, was stopped by Fullerton while the Tigers were outslugging the Red Sox 11 to 9. The Detroit star had registered 11 consecutive hits, one less than the record of 12 established by Speaker in 1920.

The Browns increased their lead by noosing out the Athletics, 8-2, McManis drove in the winning run in the seventh, after a dual between Kelp and Helms.

Giants Again Beaten
The St. Louis Cardinals hit Philadelphia hard in the early innings and took their second straight win. In the ninth after Earl Smith started a rally with a home run.

Brooklyn staged a whitewash inning rally against the Pirates, scoring four runs to tie the score, and won in the 14th, 5 to 6.

St. Louis' Helen Feltner, home in the ninth with one out, enabled the Phils to beat the Chicago Cubs, 8-7, while Ferdie Schupp, ex-Giant, who was a comeback with the White Sox, held Washington to four hits fanned 10 and won 2 to 0.

LOWELL DOGS WIN
Lowell dog club were rewarded for their effort in entering dogs in the ladies' dog show held in Brooklyn last Saturday. Mrs. Tillie Brackley, president, took first prize in the American bred class and "The Boy Blue" won first prize in the open class. Both dogs were awarded special prizes.

McNamara Joins Braves
BOSTON, June 20.—Tim McNamara, the former Fordham college pitcher, appeared at a Boston Braves uniform today. The Braves were to play against Cincinnati, the team from McNamara's home town. McNamara was signed up recently.

LOWELL BALL PLAYERS ENORMOUS DAMAGE IS CAUSED BY FLOOD
GO TO FREDERICTON

Duke Connors of the Centralville and Pop Olson of the Broadway's left Lowell last night for Fredericton, N.B., where they have been signed up to play league ball for the remainder of the season. Rumors of the imminent departure of these players have been going the rounds for the last week or two, but nothing definite was known until yesterday.

Bob Ganley, manager of the Massachusetts mill team and former star of the big league, has negotiated the deal, as he has been reported to have found berth for other likely looking Lowell boys, who, however, preferred to remain in Lowell.

The loss of Connors will be felt greatly by the Centralville, for they, more than any others, know his value at first base. Olson will leave a hole in the Broadway lineup hard to fill, although many think that Connie Desmond can fill the gap to general satisfaction.

GAME CALLED OFF
The Junior Twilight league game between the Ramblers and the Tigers, scheduled for last evening, was called off on account of rain. Next Wednesday evening, the Ramblers will play the Pawtucket Blues at the Chambers street playground. This last round of the league will start Thursday evening with the Colts opposing the Ramblers at Washington park. The latter continue to lead the league.

R. B. FOSDICK SPEAKS AT WELLESLEY COLLEGE

WELLESLEY, June 20.—WHI man continued the master of the intricate machinery of civilization. He will prove a Frankenstein monster that will play its own maker? These queries were proposed in the commencement exercises in the address of Raymond B. Fosdick of New York to the young women of Wellesley college today.

"Government," he said, "is getting out of the hands of the people, not in the sense that anybody is taking it away from them, but in the sense that with the rapid extension of its technical aspects, it is becoming more difficult to comprehend and control."

He asserted that the assumption that man's capacity kept up with his inventions was erroneous. "We cannot be dogmatically sure that there has been substantial improvement in the human stock since the days of the Egyptians or the Greeks," he contended. "Even less sure can we be that the last century which has seen so tremendously to our mechanical environment has brought about a corresponding improvement in human capacity. In fact we know that it is not so. We have come into our inheritance with no greater abilities than our fathers had."

"Life in the future," he speeded up infinitely "beyond the present."

"Science will not wait for man to catch up. It does not hold itself responsible for the morals or capacities of its human employees. In brief, science has multiplied man's physical powers, but it has not increased his capacity for construction and destruction. How is that capacity to be used in the future? How can we hold in check the increasing physical power of disruptive influences? Have we spiritual assets enough to counterbalance the new forces? Can we breed a greater average intelligence? Can education run fast enough, not only to overcome the trend which science has obtained, but to keep abreast in the race? These are the questions upon whose answers depends the future of humanity."

DEBATING TEAM WILL GO TO LYNN
The Lowell Y.M.C.A. debating team will go to Lynn tonight where it will debate the team of that city on the question: "Resolved, that labor unions are a help and not a detriment." S. N. Cushman and Frank Brown Murphy, the Lowell debaters, will uphold the affirmative. The negative will be upheld by the Lynn men, Dr. E. O. Hixby and Edward McKeckale. The judges will be Blake Irving of the Lowell Rotary club, Clarence Sherman of the Lynn Rotary club and a member of the Salem Rotary club. The local party will leave at 6 o'clock by auto.

"Manna" milk, from the soy bean, is now being made in Vienna at one-fifth the cost of fresh milk.

TOOTH BRUSH ECONOMY
A Kent Tooth Brush costs more at first, but considering the length of time it wears and the real cleaning service it gives every time it is used, in the end it is much less expensive. The bristles do not sicken or come out.

Lives of 1000 Train Passengers Saved by the Matter of Inches

Four Trains Barely Escaped Being Wrecked—Rocks and Earth Piled Up

BOSTON, June 20.—The lives of 1000 passengers were saved by a matter of inches and minutes and by the presence of mind of one man last night when tons upon tons of oozy, sticky mud washed by the heavy rain from the embankment in the rear of the Medford Hills station, swept across the Boston & Maine tracks, forming a barricade that no train could have plowed through without being wrecked.

Two Montreal fliers—the 7 p. m. Central Vermont and the 7:30 Canadian Pacific—both of which were loaded to their capacity, a freight train and one local narrowly missed piling up one of the worst railroad catastrophes of years.

The mere fact that the Canadian Pacific Montreal flier, which ordinarily swirls through Medford Hills at the rate of 50 miles an hour, was 15 minutes late leaving the North station, owing to unusually heavy travel, and that Walter J. Ballou, of 75 Winthrop street, Medford, who discovered the wash-out, getting in an emergency call to the train dispatcher and then rushing up the tracks waving a red lantern in time to prevent the train from crashing into a six-foot boulder which lodged in the very center of the out-bound track as the result of the landslide.

The 7 o'clock Grand Trunk & Central Vermont train, for Montreal via White River Junction, passed through Medford Hills at 7:12 (railroad time), just a few minutes before the embankment gave way.

The Canadian Pacific train carried two line coaches, four sleepers, two baggage cars and a mail car and was in charge of Conductor Charles Hayes of Newport, N. H. The Central Vermont train, in charge of Conductor W. G. Shattuck of Somerville, carried three sleepers, two baggage cars and a mail car. Ordinarily, this train carries but two sleepers, unusually heavy travel last night accounting for the third.

Heard Landslide Crash

Walter J. Ballou, who lives near the tracks, heard the crashing of mud and rocks as a 25-foot section of the embankment under the Community House of the Universalist church gave way under the ceaseless undermining of the heavy rain and swirled across the tracks. He rushed to the railroad station and, sensing in an instant, the seriousness of the situation, hurried

"Fruit-a-lives" Prevents Auto-Intoxication

Auto-intoxication means self-poisoning. Many people suffer from partial constipation or insufficient action of the bowels. Waste matter which should pass out of the body every day, poisons the blood.

As a result, there is Headache, Indigestion, disturbed Stomach, lack of sleep, Rheumatism and Eczema. "Fruit-a-lives" will always relieve Auto-intoxication as these fruit tablets, made from fruit juices, act gently on the bowels, kidneys and skin and keep the blood pure.

back to his home and telephoned the North station.

He warned the train dispatcher of the danger and the latter passed the word along so that the engineer of the Canadian Pacific train knew his way was blocked, but he did not know the exact location of the washout.

Ballou, having delivered his warning, grabbed a red lantern and ran far up the tracks, flagging the train about 150 yards from the obstruction. With the Montreal train stopped, Ballou hurried in the other direction and likewise stopped the local from Wilmington, due at the North station at 8:42 (railroad time). Far in the rear of the Montreal train the engineer of a fast freight saw the danger signal and brought his train to a halt.

The tail-light of the Central Vermont train could be seen in the distance when Ballou reached the scene of the wash-out, the train having passed the station less than three minutes before the rails were blocked.

Heavy Damage to Crops Caused by Rain

BIDDEFORD, Me., June 19.—Damage estimated at thousands of dollars on York county farms is resulting from the long continued heavy rains. Recently planted lowland ground will have to be resowed and crops just started are under water. The Saco river is rapidly rising but has not reached the danger point. Manufacturers as a bright side. A. F. OF L. TO AID N. E. TEXTILE STRIKERS

CINCINNATI, June 19.—(By the Associated Press)—Full moral and financial support was pledged to the New England Textile Workers, now on strike, by a resolution adopted unanimously by the labor convention today without discussion. The resolution also urged all delegates to carry out its terms "to the best of their ability."

For 44 Hour Week
The convention adopted a resolution favoring the 44 hour week throughout the textile industry. The resolution, which the federation's "moral and all other helpful support" to the International Typographical union in its fight for the 44 hour week, and asked all trades unions and their members to purchase only such industrial matter produced under such conditions and produced by employers who honor their word in observing agreements that they have entered into for the 44-hour week. 22ND WEEK OF STRIKE IN RHODE ISLAND

PAWTUCKET, R. I., June 19.—The 22nd week of the textile strike opened quietly today. The strikers of the Lonsdale, Berkeley and Ashton mills refused to take advantage of the permission granted by Sheriff Andrew J. As during open last week, few workers except overseers, second hands and officials reported for work. At the Pawtucket mills, which have granted injunctions against picketing, deputy sheriffs were again on duty to enforce the strikers put in an annoyance. The 100 milk weavers, who walked out at the mill of the Pennsylvania Textile Co., in Central Falls, on Friday, returned to work today. They wanted 20 per cent increase on their work but agreed to compromise for 10 per cent.

CLEVELAND, June 20.—Revolutions in the coal mining industry through the establishment of a "coal company with a soul."

This is the aim of leaders of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, which has just entered the coal mining business by a $2,000,000 investment in West Virginia and Kentucky coal mines.

And they make this venture, without fear of financial loss, at a time when the coal mines of the country are tied up by a nation-wide strike. They feel that they have solved the problem of labor disputes and will have no trouble at their mines now or in the future.

Three main points in the brotherhood's program are: Elimination of "watered" stock, promoters' fees, and preferred stock in the formation of the company. In ideal living and working conditions for the miners and consequent removal of strike danger and general discontent.

Elimination of middlemen's profits in distribution. This is to be done by enabling consumers to organize their own co-operative local yards and to sell to themselves at cost.

Thousands Own Stock

The Coal River Collieries, as the new company is called, is owned by several thousand locomotive engineers throughout the country, who subscribed in small amounts for the $2,000,000 stock.

"The main problem in coal mining is men. Coal mining is dirty, hard and dangerous work. Yet coal miners for centuries have been among the poorest paid of manual laborers. In addition to inadequate wages, they also suffer irregular employment. These are the main reasons why miners strike and why the industries of the nation periodically face a fuel famine."

This statement by Warren S. Stone, grand chief of the brotherhood and chairman of the collieries board of directors, is a basis for changes made in the system of running Coal River collieries. Right at the outset, before the company is even paying dividends, miners here are receiving a dollar a day more than the highest wage scale asked by the union in neighboring mines.

Modernized Mine
Labor has been lightened by the Installation of modern mining machinery wherever possible.

The brotherhood has substituted for the average dilapidated and drab mining town, model villages with handsome little homes, schools, churches, stores, amusement buildings, thorough sanitation and all the facilities of a small city. No cattle are allowed to roam the streets. Garbage is regularly collected without charge. Even the porches have been screened at company expense.

Why It Was Done

This, say the engineers, is good business as well as good policy. Model living conditions, ample wages, and machinery to lighten the labor will attract the highest type of miners, who in turn will produce more coal than would men who are sullen and undernourished.

The brotherhood has shown a good record as a business organization in entering new fields. They erected and made a paying proposition of a skyscraper in Cleveland; they established the first co-operative national bank in America, and a short time ago announced the organization of a million-dollar investment company as an auxiliary to the bank. This, too, is now a success.

FIRE MAKES TEN THOUSAND HOMELESS

Just one little strip of the area covered by a fire that destroyed more than 400 buildings, made 10,000 homeless, among them 150 inmates of an orphanage, and injured 60 at Arvane, Long Island. The fire swept from Jamaica Bay to the Atlantic ocean. Dynamiting prevented its spread to the famous Rockaway resorts.

BY GENE COHN
SAN FRANCISCO, June 20.—Have you put in your winter order for wild animals? Better hurry!
For Mr. and Mrs. Frank Buck, who have won fortune and fame in this strange business, are about to depart on their annual trip which this time will take them through the Indian jungles to the shadows of the Himalayas.
On their order book are, among other things, the following:
Two Indian rhinoceros, very rare and possibly extinct, to be delivered to the New York zoo; two pair of snow leopards, very rare; four markhor goats (curly-horned variety) for Philadelphia zoo; and an entire menagerie for the city of Dallas, Tex.
Mrs. Buck, probably the only woman collector of wild animals in the world, finds both pleasurable and profitable of almost any large American city.

GRADUATION EXERCISES IN TOWN HALL

Joint graduation exercises for the Chelmsford Centre and Westland grammar schools were held in the Centre town hall last evening and the affair was largely attended. The platform was handsomely decorated with roses, peonies and greenery with the class colors, crimson and green predominating.

In the course of the evening a very pleasing program was given by the grammar school orchestra composed of Burton A. Gould, Donald A. Dunsford, Herman Olsen, Eleanor Parkhurst, Ruth Small and Gladys Kemp. The class gift to the Westland school was a large picture of Castle Angles at Rome, while the Centre class favor to the school was $23 in cash, which will help to swell the fund for the purchase of a piano for the school.

The program and the graduates were as follows:

Leader Says Only Government Can Prevent Strike
of 1,000,000 Workers

CINCINNATI, June 20.—(By the Associated Press)—Interest here today
in the nation-wide rail strike situation centered in the conference tonight
between officials of the miners and
railroad shop crafts union when plans
for concerted strike action between
In a statement William H. Johnson, president of the Miners, declared the only possible move that could prevent a walkout of approximately one million rail workers July 1 was for the government to order
the labor board to suspend its order reducing wages and for the board to enforce against all lines its order
against the farming out of shop work
to railroads.

CLEVELAND, June 20.—(Strike ballots are being mailed to all members of the Brotherhood of Railway and Shipmen, Freight Handlers, Express and Station Employees on the New York Central railroad, according to an announcement today by Frank J. Grosser, general organizer of the union.)

The referendum will be taken, he said, in protest against a wage reduction for clerks of three and four cents an hour, ordered by the railroad labor board last Friday, and against the proposed contracting by the New York Central of certain classes of freight work and station labor. Under the new ruling the wages of the clerks will average 85 cents an hour, effective July 1. The ballots are returnable prior to July 1.

Inasmuch as agreements had been reached with several railroads, E. H.
Lizgerald, president of the Brotherhood, said in Cincinnati last night that
a general strike referendum would be taken.

LONDON, June 20.—(By the Associated Press)—Winston Spencer Churchill, the colonial secretary, at the house of commons today admitted that the present time is inopportune for a discussion of Ireland, and asked the house to allow him to reserve any statement that would have been made to the commons today, until some later time.

Supt. of Police Thomas R. Atkinson
today issued a set of orders which are to be read at all roll calls today in which patrolmen are asked to check
up violators of Sunday ordinances, to keep close watch on motor vehicle
drivers, especially those who become
are not discharged before the time set
by law.

The superintendent has received numerous complaints about all the above mentioned things. He is very anxious to check the number of motor
accidents in this city and to bring the

out. Earlier in the year, Councilor Fred Sullivan attempted to have the city extend the system in Gorham street, but the city collector ruled that money necessary therefor could not properly
be transferred from the overlay surplus account, as was planned and the order slipped from sight. Evidently the mayor now includes this extension in his plan.

solving the problem of granting additional money to city departments over

one received by the mayor yesterday,
was received today by Superintendent
of Police Thomas R. Atkinson. Unlike
the mayor's letter, the one received by the police chief contained no death
threat. In fact, the writer of it said that he had nothing against Atkinson
but that he had gone too far in the Tuscarawas matter.

Minnesota primary turned today to
the race Mrs. Anna Dickie Olesen made for the democratic senatorial nomination.

ed her in a nip-and-tuck contest with

the outcome would be in doubt until
many more precincts had reported.

Merrimack Six Feet Higher
Today Than Saturday as Result of Rains

As the result of the week-end storm
that played over the Merrimack river
valley Saturday, Sunday and Monday,
the river at Lowell this morning was four feet higher than yesterday and six feet higher than the maximum
mark before the mills opened on Saturday. It is believed that the water will swell even more before the effect of the heavy rains up country is fully felt here.

When the sun's rays penetrated the haze over the city this noon they shone down on a community that had been water soaked for more than 72
hours. It was not a particularly friendly sun, however, for it soon disappeared again and a sky that had begun to flout occasional patches of blue once more covered itself with a gray blanket.

Term by a Plurality of $25,000

PORTLAND, Me., June 20.—Senator making a personal campaign, won an easy victory in the state primaries yesterday. The vote cast for him was larger than the total for his two opponents, former Congressman Frank

B. Guernsey and former State Senator
Howard Davies, and his plurality over Guernsey was nearly 20,000. Davies ran a poor third.

In another three-cornered contest,
Governor Percival P. Baxter, republican, was renominated for a second term.

State Commissioner of Public Works Favors Better
Transportation System

Is Opposed to the Merrimack River and St. Lawrence River Waterway Projects

Speaking before the Lowell Rotary club at its weekly meeting this noon, Hon. John N. Cole, state commissioner of public works, recorded himself as favoring the building up of the best transportation system possible as a solution of the difficulties facing the manufacturers and producers of New England today. In the course of his talk Commissioner Cole expressed his opposition to the Merrimack river and Great Lakes-St. Lawrence river waterway projects, particularly the latter, which he foresees as a menace to New England, calculated to leave this section of the country as a small, isolated sector.

Commissioner Cole was introduced by Louis E. Studley, and began by paying personal tribute to Frank L.
Weaver, whom he characterized as his dearest friend and earliest political mentor. He expressed the hope that Mr. Weaver and men of similar type will be spared us for many years.

Effort to Call Up Bonus Bill Fails

WASHINGTON, June 20.—An effort to get the soldiers' bonus bill before the senate today failed, the senate adopting 51 to 22, a motion by Senator Watson, republican, Indiana, to lay on the table a motion by Senator Walsh, democrat, Massachusetts, to displace the tariff bill with the bonus.

Eight democrats supported the Watson motion and two republicans opposed it. The vote of New England senators follows:

Dillingham, Vermont, Lodge, Monro, Walsh, Massachusetts; Gerry, Senator, Walsh sought to get his motion to take up the bonus before the senate before consideration of the tariff was resumed, but was unanimously defeated. After a wait of more than an hour, he got the floor and declared that he would postpone the bonus until after the tariff bill is passed.

NEW YORK, June 20.—The New York state boxing coemption today consideration for approximately one month, it was said today at the

To Cut Second Class Postal Rates

WASHINGTON, June 20.—The administration has under consideration a decrease in second class postal rates, it was said today at the White House. Considerable discussion was given to the subject at today's cabinet meeting and President Harding and Postmaster General Work are inclined to believe that at least a part of the increase in the second class rates made during the war, should now be removed.

Seek to Determine Cause of Deaths of Wilbanks and First Wife of Dr. Saggus

WASHINGTON, Ga., June 20.—Plans were made to exhume the bodies of Charles W. Wilbanks and the first wife of Dr. J. G. Saggus to determine the cause of their deaths.

This announcement was made after the arrest yesterday of Dr. Saggus, who was lodged in jail here on charges of poisoning the former Mrs. Saggus and Wilbanks, a former neighbor and the arrest yesterday of Dr. Saggus.

Dr. Saggus emphatically denied the charges and attributed them to a "frameup" born of jealousy. His denial was substantiated by Mrs. Saggus, but with the verdict of the coroner's jury that the physician was guilty of a double murder in their hands, officials prepared for the post-mortem examination.

WILL "CHECK UP" CITY PAYROLLS

(Special to The Sun)
BOSTON, June 19.—In order that it may "check up" city payrolls, and ascertain whether any persons are being employed in any of the cities of the commonwealth in violation of the civil service laws, the state department of civil service, through its secretary John C. Gilbert, has "requested" all department heads in each city to file with the commission at once a report indicating all persons who have received pay or rendered bills during the month preceding the filing of the report.

Mr. Gilbert's letter reads:—"I am directed by the commissioner of civil service to request you, under the provisions of section 31 of chapter 31 of the General Laws, as amended by chapter 31 of the acts of 1922, to make and file within seven days after the receipt of this notice, with the commissioner of civil service and with the auditor or officer or officers whose duty it is to audit your accounts, a report containing the names of all persons appointed or employed by you, or who have received pay or rendered bills for services or labor rendered month next preceding the date of filing such report."

"Under said law, the report must be under oath and contain the following information:—First, name of person appointed or employed or rendered service or labor; second, nature and brief description of the service or labor which such person has actually rendered or performed during said month; third, title of the office or employment of such person as stated in the payrolls of the department; fourth, the regular salary or wages of the appointee or employee; fifth, all other payments of any kind made to the appointee or employee during said month."

KILLS 18-YEAR-OLD WIFE AND MOTHER-IN-LAW

STATESBORO, Ga., June 20.—Deceased to have confessed to shooting to death his 18-year-old wife and his mother-in-law, while returning in an automobile with them to their home at Dover, Ga., Elliott Padrick was held at Augusta, today, where he was speedily removed last night for safe keeping.

Passing by found the automobile abandoned on the road, containing the body of Padrick's mother-in-law, Mrs. M. B. Olson, 37, and his wife, who expired in a few minutes after it was found. Padrick, who had been separated from his wife for several months, is said by the authorities to have confessed to shooting the two women in an impulse of jealousy over what he considered were his wife's attentions to other men.

BOSTON, June 20.—With the permission of Joseph A. Parks of the industrial accident board, the Travelers Insurance Company will discontinue payment of compensation to Alphonse Boucher, formerly of Lowell, who sustained a fracture of the right knee cap while in the employ of the Casper Ringer Construction Company in May 1916. Compensation has been paid to him since the injury, although it has been based upon only partial incapacity.

Recently the insurance company discovered that since moving to Suncook, N. H., Boucher has established a business of his own, doing odd jobs of work, at which he has been able to earn more than the $22 per week which was paid him while working in Lowell, previous to the injury. Consequently the company demanded an opportunity to show that it was entitled to discontinue the compensation payments.

To prove its contention, the company called as a witness a resident of Suncook for whom Boucher has recently worked, and this witness placed in evidence a record of the payments made by him to Boucher, this evidence corroborating the company's contention that the man has an earning capacity greater than he previously had, and upon this presentation Commissioner Parks granted it permission to discontinue the payments. Mothers—Read This Letter and Statement Which Follows

Portland, Indiana.—"I was troubled with irregularity and constipation and would often have to lie down because of pains. One Sunday my aunt was visiting and she said her girls took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and got well, so mother said she guessed she would let me try it. It is doing me good and I praise it highly. You are welcome to use this letter as a testimonial."

STELLA NEWTON, R. R. 8, Portland, Indiana.

Mothers—You should carefully guard your daughter's health. Advise her of the danger which comes from standing around with cold or wet feet, from lifting heavy articles, or overworking. Do not let her overstudy.

If she complains of headache, pains in back or lower limbs, or if you notice a plowness of thought, nervousness or irritability on the part of your daughter, give her careful attention. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is an excellent medicine for your daughter to take, as it is especially adapted to relieve just such symptoms. Remember it contains nothing that can injure and can be taken in safety.

Hale and Baxter Win

Continued

term by a plurality of 35,000 over John P. Deering, with Leon F. Higgins trailing.
The vote of 513 election precincts out of 635 in the state, representing 401 out of 520 cities and towns, was:
For senator—Davies 7325; Guernsey 16,609; Hale 24,195.
For governor—Baxter 40,552; Deering 14,816; Higgins 10,759.

The total registered vote of the missing precincts, mostly very small towns, was too small to affect the result.
Returns from the same precincts left the contest for state auditor in doubt. Auditor Elbert D. Mayford, seeking re-nomination, was leading Edwin J. Morrill by slightly more than 400 votes, with Maurice W. Bragdon running a good third. The vote of these precincts was: Bragdon 14,638; Mayford 18,125; Morrill 17,698.

Senator Hale carried all but two counties and all but three of the cities. Guernsey carried his home county, Piscataquis, and the adjoining Penobscot county and the cities of Bangor, Brewer and Lewiston. In Portland, the largest city, the senator's vote was 2100 greater than the combined vote of his opponents.

Governor Baxter lost only two counties, Penobscot to Higgins and York to Deering, with the possibility that Higgins might nose him out in Hancock county when the last returns were in. He carried all but four of the 20 cities, Higgins carrying Bangor, Brewer and Oldtown, and Deering carrying Saco.

All of the candidates carried their home towns. The total vote, partly because of heavy rain, was light. Women voted in the primaries for the first time in this state, although they participated in the election in 1920.

It was the second defeat for Guernsey for the senatorial nomination and of Deering for the nomination for governor. Six years ago in a special senatorial primary, Guernsey lost to Senator Fernald by 800 votes. In 1920

Deering ran second by 2100 votes to Frederick M. Parkhurst in a four-cornered contest. Governor Baxter came into office upon the death of Governor Parkhurst soon after his inauguration.

Congressmen Beedy, White, Nelson and Hersey, all republicans, were re-nominated without opposition. On the democratic ticket, there were only minor contests. The democratic nominee for senator, former Governor Oakley C. Curtis, for governor, former State Attorney General William B. Pattingall, and for congress, Louis A. Donahue, Bertrand G. McIntyre, Leon O. Tebbets and James W. Sewall.

In a statement early today, Senator Hale expressed pleasure with the "vote of confidence given him and added:

"The contest has been so conducted by all of the contestants as to leave no sore spot, and the republicans of Maine will be united in September. With Governor Baxter as our standard bearer, I believe that we shall win a notable victory."

Candidates Issue Statements
The following statements were issued early today by candidates in yesterday's primaries:

Senator Frederick Hale: "I am naturally very much pleased with the vote of confidence given me by the republicans of Maine. I have spent practically no time in campaigning and whatever fight has been made for me has been made by my friends. They have stood by me most loyally and I feel very grateful to them. The contest has been so conducted by all of the contestants as to leave no sore spots and the republicans of Maine will be united in September. With Governor Baxter as our standard bearer, I believe that we shall win a notable victory."

Governor Percival P. Baxter: "The result of the primaries indicates that the people have confidence in the present state administration and I fully appreciate the responsibility of the position I occupy. A governor cannot do the work of his office and at the same time carry on a political campaign. I was obliged to rely upon my

Frank E. Guernsey: "I have no question about the nomination of Senator Hale and have sent my congratulations to him. The three day's rain probably reduced the primary vote in the state more than 25,000 votes, practically eliminating the vote in the rural communities of the north, on which I was relying for support. The southern candidates under the circumstances had a great advantage in getting their vote to the polls in the large places in the southern part of the state."

John P. Deering: "I concede Gov. Baxter's nomination for governor of the state of Maine. I congratulate him on his victory. I think my defeat was due to the difficulty of running against a man holding office and the impossibility of placing my side of the issue before the people."

Primary System Rich Man's Game
"The difficulties of the primary campaign in trying to cover 520 cities, and towns are such that no person can do it alone without expending a vast amount of money. The enormous expenses of the primary make it impossible for a man of limited means to get his story to the people. The primary system of nominating candidates for office is a rich man's game. The rich men won in Maine the same as in Pennsylvania."

"I wish to thank sincerely all my loyal friends throughout the state for the splendid support they have given me. An experienced campaigner said: 'The primary law lasts five years longer there will not be three people in the state speaking to each other. There must be an improved system of nominating candidates before a man of ordinary means stands a ghost of a show of success.'"

"I understand Governor Baxter's nomination is an endorsement of the state's construction of storage basins and state ownership of water power, and I shall now return to my active and lucrative practice of law."

A. F. OF L. CONVENTIONLabor's Attitude on Educational Questions Taken up at Today's Session

CINCINNATI, June 20. (By the Associated Press.)—Organized labor's attitude on educational questions was before the American Federation of Labor convention today for consideration. Overhauling the usual questions centering about the contents of school texts, courses of study on the labor movement and free school books was a resolution proposing an investigation of "the alleged discriminatory action contemplated by Harvard college to deny admission to Jews."

The investigation was proposed by Matthew Woll, a vice-president of the Federation; Benjamin Schlesinger, president of the International Ladies' Garment Workers and James Doherty of the Boston Central Labor Union.

SUPERIOR COURT CIVIL SESSION

A verdict in the sum of $917.32 was returned this noon at the civil session of the superior court in the case of J. Edward Lydstone of Somerville vs. Susan M. Dearden and Trustees of Boston, an action of contract, which went to trial yesterday morning. In this case the plaintiff sought to recover the sum of $400 and interest, which he alleged he paid to the defendants for a coat, which was guaranteed to be a brand-new Alaskan seal coat, but which it is claimed later turned out to be a re-made coat of old second hand skins.

The next case to go on trial was that of Abbie A. Bligh vs. F. X. Dostaler et al., an action of tort in the sum of $5000. In this case the plaintiff seeks to recover damages for personal injuries she received when she was struck by an automobile owned by the defendants in Westford street on Oct. 14, 1921.

The gingham bathing suit and the gingham pajamas in the old plaid and check patterns we know so well are seen in all the shops, windows, Gingham hats, too are very smart and gingham patterns are being used in silks.

LACE LINGERIE
Lace corsets are not as impractical as they sound. They are of a strong quality of mesh, and are worn so loosely and comfortably that there is little strain upon them. Lace brasieres are most desirable for hot weather and are shown in attractive styles.

"Sylpho-Nathol"makes healthful cleanness

"Cousin Elizabeth took a Ph.D. at Wellesley. She's so scientific and scholarly you feel that every statement she makes is backed by facts. She thoroughly approves of Sylpho-Nathol. In fact, she's advising its use in her Welfare work in Boston."

"The way in which housekeepers have come to realize the importance of sanitation is really wonderful," she said. "Such measures are very necessary to community health. There would be less risk of influenza and other contagious diseases if Sylpho-Nathol were used in every home."

"All the ordinary cleaning in the world won't get rid of germs. They must be destroyed, and that's what Sylpho-Nathol does. It meets a great need for a really effective household disinfectant and deodorant."

Sylpho-Nathol is safe. Though 4 1/2 times stronger than carbolic acid, it is as safe to have in the house as a cake of scouring soap.

Sylpho-Nathol is pleasant to use. It destroys odors as well as germs; but its faint, friendly, refreshing smell doesn't linger.

Sylpho-Nathol is easy to use. A teaspoonful in a quart of warm water makes a clean-smelling, pearly-gray solution that's ready for immediate use.

Sylpho-Nathol should be used regularly wherever odors may start or germs breed—down sink pipes to keep them sweet and odorless; in the garbage can to eliminate unpleasant smells and drive flies away; in the cellar to chase away damp, musty odors; and, of course, around the bathroom fixtures and as a flush for the closet bowl.

Sylpho-Nathol is a splendid healing antiseptic for cuts, burns, bruises and sprains. It is indispensable for use in the sick-room, as a safeguard against contagion.

Sylpho-Nathol comes in four handy sizes, 15c, 35c, 65c and $1.25. Most good grocers and druggists have it. If yours hasn't, he can get it easily. Just ask for it by name—"Sylpho-Nathol."

OFFICER LOSES PANTS

Raiding Policeman Has Trousers Ripped Off by Women After Evidence

BOSTON, June 20.—That the "female of the species is more deadly than the male" was proven conclusively yesterday, when a husky six-foot patrolman attached to the East Dedham street police station told Judge Dowd in the municipal court how he lost his trousers during a raid in the South End.

Pauline Ruskin, strong and healthy looking, living at 254 Shawmut avenue, was arraigned charged with making a sale of liquor to police officers and attached to the liquor squad. Among the spectators in the rear of the courtroom were two other women, ready at a moment's notice, to rush to the rescue of Pauline at a given signal. These two women, the police say, assisted Pauline in removing the trousers from the officer.

According to Patrolman Conroy, the victim of the atrocious assault, he entered the apartment occupied by Pauline and entered into conversation with her and two other women present. Everything proceeded well until someone suggested having a drink. Conroy told the court he asked to buy some liquor and soon secured it.

Then the fun commenced. Conroy casually poured the contents of the glass he secured into a bottle and placed it into his hip pocket. He then announced the fact that he was a police officer.

"What!" shouted Pauline. "You!" joined in the other two women.

And then the officer charges the women attacked him and tried to seize the precious vital containing the evidence and which was in his pocket. They tore his coat, scratched his face, the officer charges, but still he held tight to the bottle.

Then they started for his trousers. When other members of the liquor squad, headed by Sergeant Miller, entered the house they found Conroy still master of the bottle, but unable to leave the place owing to his trouserless condition.

An old skill was secured and Conroy brought the women to the station house. At first the booking officer did not know who was the woman charged with the sale, but when officers secured another pair of trousers for Conroy the sergeant behind the desk soon distinguished Pauline from Conroy.

In court yesterday Judge Dowd ordered the Ruskin woman held in bonds for arraignment on Friday. Additional charges are expected to be preferred against her.

TO RESUME FLIGHT
Seaplane Pilot Forced to Descend in Fog

NIANTIC, Conn., June 20.—Robert Hewett, pilot of the seaplane which became lost last night, intended to resume his flight from Boston to Patuxent, N. J., today. When Hewett descended in Niantic Bay he struck a rock, which was just under the surface at low tide, tearing a hole in the bottom of the seaplane. The plane's momentum carried him to the shore. Hewett expects to make repairs and finish his flight today. He left Boston on Saturday, it was reported.

FOR THE TODDLER
Overalls of colored sateen are very smart garments for the toddling child. Sometimes they have embroidered pockets, and sometimes a little yarn or coarse thread is used to illustrate some Mother Goose tale on the front of the garment.

state convention and Herman Mueller, incumbent, elected two years ago with Non-Partisan league endorsement, seemed close as tabulation of returns was resumed today, although Miss Kaecher then had a 4 to 3 lead. First reports gave Mrs. Olesen a marked advantage and for some time she held a lead, only to lose it as the Ramsey county (St. Paul) vote began to come in. Then first she and then Neighan would take first place. It is the first time in the history of the state-local politicians say it is the first time in the history of the country—that a woman has sought the senatorial nomination of a major political party and in Mrs. Olesen's case she had the endorsement of the democratic convention.

Born in Minnesota 35 years ago, Mrs. Olesen lived on a farm in the southern part of the state until she married Peter Olesen, now superintendent of city schools at Cloquet. They have one child, Mary, 14 years old who has taken an active interest in her mother's entry into politics.

In the republican senatorial race, Ernest Lundgren of Minneapolis, former congressman, gave Senator Kellogg the closest race, although reports from the first 200 precincts showed Kellogg leading 2 to 1. The same ratio was maintained by Gov. Preus, whose opponent was Franklin F. Ellsworth.

Further returns today from the Third congressional district, indicated that the contest between Representative Charles D. Davis and Reuben Thorsen, the latter endorsed by the district convention, would be closer than first reports had indicated.

to the chief's way of thinking, a great many accidents can be avoided. If motorists will slow down and sound horns at all intersecting ways, the motor laws are every significant at this point and limit the speed to eight miles an hour.

In regard to the discharging of fireworks, the chief thinks this is done almost entirely by small boys. The law says that fireworks of any kind must not be discharged until midnight on July 3. People in hospitals have complained that the noise disturbs patients and makes them extremely nervous and restless. Aged and infirm people are also disturbed greatly by the noise attending the discharge of fireworks and it is with this in mind that the superintendent wrote that clause into the orders.

The orders follow:
Office of the Supt. of Police.
Complaint has come to this office that persons are keeping open shops on the Lord's day without the required Sunday license. The day officers are instructed to check them up.

Complaint is also made that some stores are violating the law by selling meals, groceries, etc. on the Lord's day. All officers are instructed to give this matter their attention. I desire to call your attention to the danger of recklessly operating motor vehicles. While I believe we are free from auto accidents as other cities of a similar population and perhaps more so, yet we must curb the reckless operator, and the necessity of requiring him to slow down and give a timely warning at intersecting streets is obvious and in so doing will reduce the number in our streets. Many complaints are coming in regarding the discharging of fireworks or firecrackers in the city, especially in the vicinity of hospitals and other lu-

stitutions where ill and infirm people are confined. Most of this work is being done by small boys but should be discouraged as much as possible until the time set by law, namely, midnight. Signed THOMAS R. ATKINSON, Supt. of Police.

Organization of the Club—Its Officers, the Scheming Circle and What Has Been Accomplished by This Live Club of City Boosters in a Very Short Time—The Law Against False Advertising

FRANK RICARD,
President

EDWARD W. GALLAGHER,
Organizer and Secretary

Starting with a membership of approximately 50 at the organization meeting on the evening of January 18, 1922, the Lowell Advertising Club has met with remarkable success in all its undertakings, until at present the membership is approximately 300.

Each member automatically becomes a member of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World, and the club itself is affiliated with the New England Association of Advertising Clubs. Dues are five dollars per year, one dollar and a half of which goes to the A. A. C. of W., and includes a subscription to "Associated Advertising," the monthly publication of the national body.

Although the underlying purpose of the club is related to advertising, membership is not restricted solely to those engaged in advertising. The club is a Lowell boosting organization and boosting is nothing more or less than advertising. Membership is open to any citizen who is desirous of becoming associated with a live, sociable membership and who will practice the slogan "Pull for Lowell or 'Hill Out!'"

The Advertising Club has its own organization of officers and committees by which it is entirely controlled. It may be traced back, however, to a suggestion made by George F. Wells, of the Chamber of Commerce, that Lowell ought to have an advertising club.

All plans for organization, assembling of those interested, affiliation with the national body, and other details, were handled by Edward W. Gallagher, assistant secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, who was elected secretary-treasurer of the Advertising Club at its first meeting.

Other officers for this year are Frank Ricard, president; Miss Grace Burns, Chalifoux company, vice president.

The executive committee consists of the officers with Benjamin S. Pouzner of the Sunday Telegram and William H. Bolger of the Courier-Citizen.

From the purely advertising standpoint, the purposes of the club are: to bring together men and women engaged in advertising in all its various departments; to work for truth and honesty in all forms of advertising; to help in creating new ideas in advertising by providing a clearing house to which each member may contribute; and from which each member may derive benefit; to study and improve methods in advertising for the purpose of promoting the commercial interests of Lowell; to stimulate greater interest in advertising among the merchants and manufacturers of Lowell in order to create a bigger, better business for Lowell; to promote friendship among its members through acquaintance, talks on timely trade topics, educational work and frequent general meetings. Among the proposed activities of the near future are a big summer outing; a monster souvenir dinner and educational courses in advertising and selling in the fall.

THE SCHEMING CIRCLE

In order to arouse more "pep" and create more general interest in the club, the secretary selected twenty real live and interested members, dubbed them "The Scheming Circle," and he has been kept busy since their first meeting, in keeping up with their activities.

This "Scheming Circle" has proven the life of the club. The members are enthusiastic and full of ideas for the benefit of the club and the community. At almost every meeting there is some stunt pulled off which originated in the Scheming Circle. This group of twenty members acts somewhat as a steering committee and at the meeting of the club on June 14, they were designated as such.

One of the big things which the Scheming Circle has accomplished is that of bringing in one hundred and eighty-two members within six days, thus increasing the membership from far below one hundred to two hundred and fifty.

Whatever scheming is done by this circle is solely to promote the aims of the club and thus to benefit Lowell.

Edward J. Cooney was elected chairman of the Scheming Circle and all the Scheming Circles recognize him as the czar of activities.

Another important matter which was taken up recently by the Scheming Circle, particularly through the efforts of Dr. Chas. L. Sweetsir, was consideration of methods of boosting Lowell-made products. As a result, Lowell ice cream manufacturers have organized an association to conduct a campaign to encourage the public to eat only Lowell-made ice cream.

Truth in Advertising

Britain's Foremost Statesmen,
Jurists and Lawyers Join
in Spontaneous Reception

Royal House Sends Greetings
—Taft Pays Tribute to
British in U. S.

LONDON, June 20.—(By the Associated Press)—Britain's foremost statesmen, jurists and lawyers and a great body of American friends joined in an impressive reception to William Howard Taft, chief justice of the United States, upon his first public appearance in England last night. It was the guest of honor at the "Pilgrims' benefit," at which five members of the cabinet, many former cabinet ministers and the greatest legal minds in the country lent their presence. Rarely before has a visiting American received such a spontaneous welcome.

The king, the Prince of Wales and the Duke of Connaught sent messages of greeting and the Earl of Balfour and Very Rev. William Ralph Inge, dean of St. Paul's, testified to the affection and admiration in which Mr. Taft is held by the English people. Mr. Taft was introduced by the Earl of Balfour, who expressed the hope that the distinguished visitor would not measure the warmth of Great Britain's greeting by the prevailing chilly weather.

"Our climate may be changeable, but our hearts are constant and true," he said. "The high esteem in which we hold the former president is not one that will change with the winds." His auditors listened with rapt attention to Mr. Taft's description of the American republic and his explanations of America's policy of foreign aloofness and some of the reasons for divergences between the two peoples. They vigorously applauded when he declared that the sinister activities of hyphenated groups in the United States were overwhelmed by public opinion, and that among naturalized Americans none were more loyal than British and Canadians.

Mr. Taft was followed by Dean Inge, who pleaded for greater solidarity between the two nations.

Those who sat at the principal table with Lord Desborough, Chief Justice Taft and Ambassador Harvey included the Archbishop of Canterbury, the Earl of Balfour, the Earl of Derby, the Earl of Devonshire, Viscount Cave, Lord Lee of Fareham, Lord Carson, Lord Buckmaster, Lord Sumner and James M. Beck, solicitor general of the United States.

The other guests included Viscount Astor, the American consul general, Robert P. Skinner and the staff of the American embassy.

Mr. Taft proceeded briefly to review the history of the relations between Great Britain and America, in the course of which he said: "No trouble arises between the two countries that we of America do not all of us look forward to its settlement either by negotiation or by arbitration. Any other event is not considered for a moment. This American state of mind is a constant factor in our relations."

COBURN'S FINE FINISHES
For Fine Homes

Why not plan to have the interior of your home painted during the vacation period? The rooms can be repainted and decorated while the family is away, and they will escape the odor of fresh paint. "Home Sweet Home" will surely look good in its new finish of paint, enamel or varnish.

Suppose next time you try Coburn's kind of bargain. Suppose instead of buying a price—you buy a paint. If some of Coburn's paints and finishes cost a little more a gallon than other paints, it is because they are worth more.

Coburn's paints outwear ordinary paints; they withstand rubbing, scrubbing and washing. They dry promptly and they come in unequalled colors. Suppose you test Coburn's Paints and try them and make them prove their worth to you.

The few dollars expended for painting and varnishing the interior of your home will be worth many times that to its appearance and preservation. THE BRIGHTNESS AND COLOR COST YOU NOTHING

Coburn's Interior Preservative is a wonderful varnish for interior woodwork. It may be rubbed or polished. Quart, $1.20

Calman's Enamolin is a free flowing white enamel. It may be brushed for half an hour without showing laps or brush marks. Quart, $1.70

Flowkote Enamel is one of the best all-around enamels. It gives a surface almost equal to porcelain. It is easily applied. Quart, $1.75

Sanitary Flat is the modern wall finish in which decorative and home builders find the perfect combination of beauty, sanitation and economy. Gallon, $3.40

Coburn's Elastic Floor Finish, the varnish for finishing floors in homes. It dries overnight and can be washed with hot water and soap. Quart, $1.20

The Paint and Oil People Since 1837

It sometimes produces an apparent indifference or lack of excitement on the part of our people over irritating issues that is misleading to the British observer.

He alluded to another source of misunderstanding—the gigantic experiment which America was engaged in trying to Americanize masses of immigrants congregated in large cities where they retained the same environment as in their own countries and did not feel the Americanizing influences to which earlier immigrants were subjected and whose home and racial prejudices had not been mitigated, as had been hoped, by living under the American flag.

Mr. Taft then referred to the reaction following the overwhelming strain of the war and the interval of convalescence, which was not a period of good nature or common-sense, and which all the allied peoples were now experiencing.

"We must regard bickerings and unreasonable sensitiveness," he added, "not as a discouragement, but as a symptom of recovery."

He was unable to touch upon the question of why America did not enter the League of Nations, but could only say, looking back over the controversy, that American membership in the league would have had to overcome a deep-seated popular conviction, confirmed by a century and a half of American experience of the wisdom of America keeping out of European entanglements.

DANCING PARTY AT THE KASINO

In place of the regular drill Friday night, the St. Peter's Casino held an informal dancing party and the affair proved to be a source of enjoyment for all who attended. The affair was conducted in the Kasino and proved to be one of the most enjoyable of the season. The program opened at 8 o'clock with a welcome to the ladies by the orchestra, and this was followed by general dancing, which was continued till a reasonable hour. During intermission entertainment numbers were given by Miss Anabel Higgins and pupils, James Doherty and Doris Clarke. Ice cream and cake were served by Mrs. J. M. A. Mc Dermott, Miss J. Reynolds and Miss N. Coughlin. The arrangements were made by the following committee, under the direction of Rev. Fr. Manion: George Reynolds, general manager; William Hornby, assistant; James Doherty, Doris Clarke, Patrick N. Thomas Maguire, George Marshall, Charles Busby, aids.

TEACHERS COUNCIL ELECTS OFFICERS

Meeting in Room 1 of the high school at 4.15 yesterday afternoon, the Teachers' council, to which representatives were elected at a meeting of the Teachers' organization last week, elected officers as follows: President, Henry H. Harrie; vice-president, Thomas Ginty; secretary, Miss Margaret Garvey. These officers, whose election was the sole purpose of the meeting, will hold office during the 1922-1923 school term.

NOTRE DAME ALUMNAE

The three-day convention of the National Federation of Notre Dame Alumnae will be formally opened on Saturday morning, June 24, at Notre Dame academy, Roxbury. From the far west and south will come about 150 delegates and friends.

On Friday evening, June 23, the Massachusetts chapter will entertain the visitors at the Pop concert in Boston Symphony hall. The entire floor and balcony have been reserved for delegates from the 17 Massachusetts alumnae and their friends. Conductor Jacchia has arranged a special program for the occasion. Music complimentary to the southern and western delegates will be given.

The banquet will be held Saturday night, June 24, at 7.30 at the Copley Plaza.

On Sunday, June 25, from 4 to 7, a tea will be given on the beautiful grounds of Notre Dame academy, Roxbury. Every member of the Lowell alumnae is invited to be present at this tea.

GIRLS' VOCATIONAL SCHOOL

At the annual commencement exercises of the girls' vocational school in the Morrill school at 10 a. m. on June 27, it is announced that Dr. Emma P. Y. Slaughter will be the speaker of the day. She is thought to be the first instance in which a woman member of the school committee has been the speaker at graduation exercises of a public school in Lowell.

NORTH CHELMSFORD WATER DISTRICT

The annual meeting of the North Chelmsford water district will be held in the lower town hall, North village, Monday evening, June 26, and with the exception of one article, which calls for an appropriation to meet the expense of a second survey of the district with a view to establishing a sewer system, the warrant contains only articles referring to routine business of the department.

The 16th annual report of the water commissioners, which is ready for distribution, discloses the fact that a sum of $11,762.50 has been spent for the maintenance of the district during the past year, leaving a balance on hand of $3200.53. The total bonded indebtedness of the district is $48,200 and it is being reduced at the rate of $3400 per annum.

There has only been one extension made during the past year, at an expense of $956.02. A total of $24,007.364 gallons of water were pumped. The commissioners state that it will be necessary to drive several new wells before next winter and also advise regarding the original wells or furnish an entire new system of wells in order to provide ample fire protection and be in a position to give an unlimited water supply to the entire district.

This would entail an expenditure of about $4000, which would have to be raised by taxation, unless the secretary is authorized to make use of the two $1000 bonds that are still in his possession. With a valuation of $153,350, the rate amounts to 70 cents on every $1000.

RECITAL BY PUPILS OF ELLA L. GALE

The pupils of Ella Leona Gale gave a pianoforte recital last evening in Kitson hall before a large audience of parents and friends. The well arranged program was faultlessly carried out by the young pupils and merited much applause from the audience. The following took part: Dorothy Mellen, Estelle Laurin, Marion Jenkins, Elizabeth Shepard, Charles A. Lorman, Alice M. Palmer, Mildred Johnson, Ralph Butler, Harold Hadley, Albert Mortrud, Dorothy M. Lorman, Margaret E. Helgott, Emma M. Chisholm, Hazel M. Estes and Ida Mellen. Mary B. Wetherell, contralto, and Doris M. Gale, soprano, assisted.

MANCHESTER, N. H., June 20.—The raging currents in the Merrimack river this morning threw logs against the boom at Martin's Ferry with such force that it broke, allowing hundreds of logs to rush down the stream to the Amoskeag dam, there to go over the falls to the rapids below. Owners of the lumber were unable to estimate the loss this morning but admitted that it would probably be heavy. No attempt was made to check the tumbling logs as the dam because of the high water which made the use of boats too dangerous. There were 500,000 feet of logs above the dam before the boom broke.

State highway agents stated that dirt roads throughout the state have been badly gutted by the rain of the past few days, making immediate repair necessary.

(By N.E.A. Service)
SEATTLE, Wash., June 20.—A 7-year plunge into the frozen Arctic—they're off!

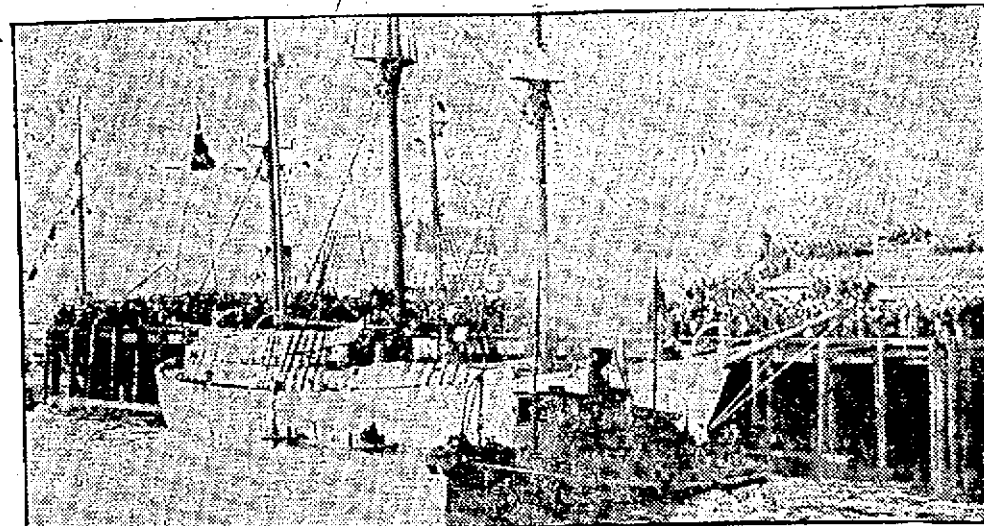

Vast throngs crowded the wharves of Seattle when Roald Amundsen, famed Norwegian explorer and discoverer of the South pole, and his crew of nine set sail for the North pole.

Amundsen plans to become frozen in the Arctic ice boom and drift with them across the pole.

The trip is to be scientific and the party is equipped with the finest set of scientific apparatus ever taken north. They sail under the flag of Norway.

Enough food is carried to last the full seven years, though it is possible that the round trip will be completed in five.

ORGANDIE
Organdie, in delicate shades, scalloped and outlined with white batiste is a new idea in lingerie. Vols in delicate shades is also very much favored.

TO KILL HOME WRECKER

LOUISVILLE, Ky., June 20.—Coakley Howe, whose wife ran away with his farmhand, started a train from New Haven, Ky., to Louisville, in his automobile last night and beat the train. He was disarmed by the police but they met the train for him and arrested the farmhand, William Bray and Mrs. Irene Howe.

"I prayed four hours to find out whether it would be a sin to kill you," Howe told Bray, "and I found out that it wouldn't. I intended to send 10 bullets into your body but the police wouldn't let me. I promise you that if ever I see you again I will not let you out of existence. I suggest that you join the army of navy and stay away from life."

Bray sought refuge in a cell for the night and then departed from Kentucky, while Howe and his wife returned to New Haven today.

TAFT "CAPTURED"

Surrenders to London's Men of Pen, Pencil and Camera

LONDON, June 20.—(By the Associated Press)—Large forces of London met at the noon, the pencil and the camera laid siege to William Howard Taft today and captured him bodily. Their ranks comprised newspaper men, photographers, motion picture operators and cartoonists. The chief justice of the United States finally surrendered to all four divisions of the besiegers, before being viewed, photographed and caricatured.

The former president is being surrounded with luncheons, banquets and miscellaneous festivities, and it is feared he will not be able to give as much time as he expected to the study of English judicial procedure.

HONORARY DEGREES AT SMITH COLLEGE

NORTHAMPTON, June 20.—The honorary degrees of Doctor of Humane Letters was conferred by Smith college today upon three Smith graduates. They are Ada Louise Constock, dean of Smith college since 1912 and president of the American Association of University Women; Virgil Butler Sanders, professor of English literature at Wellesley college, and (in absentia) Charlotte Melinda Willard, principal of the Anatolia Girls school at Marsovan, Turkey.

President William Allan Nelson conferred the degree of bachelor of arts upon 127 seniors, the largest class ever graduated from Smith.

FORMER SPRINGFIELD EDITOR DEAD

SPRINGFIELD, June 20.—Charles Goodrich, Whiting, 50, for many years an editor and writer for the Springfield Republican, died today in his summer home in Orléans. He became connected with the Republican as local editor in 1872. Two years later he became literary editor and held that position until he retired in 1919.

DINER GOWNS

ROSE PETALS
Rose petals of tulle are sprinkled all over the georgette frocks for summer. They have a very charming suggestion of summer and sunshine. Needless to say, they are very inexpensive decorations for the home dresser.

A smart beach pump is of black satin, cut on the popular capote line. It has rubber soles and a low comfortable heel, and is equally at home on land or sea.

OPPOSES PETTY POLITICS

Secretary Mellon of the United States treasury deserves the gratitude of the nation for the rebuke he has administered to those who would attempt to introduce petty politics into his department. Mr. Mellon is opposed to throwing competent men off the payroll to give place to incompetents, a policy that has recently become popular with the republican bosses at Washington. Here is what he says in reference to this tendency to play politics at the expense of the departments:

"The affairs of the treasury are of too great importance to allow of interference in its proper conduct through the introduction of petty politics."

It would be well indeed if the head of every government department would adopt a similar attitude toward the politicians who would use the offices with their political henchmen and professional office seekers. Mr. Mellon draws the line on petty politics when it comes to demoralizing the public service.

It seems that a formidable petition signed by 150 senators and representatives was sent to President Harding asking for a clean sweep of the democrats in the treasury department and that republicans be appointed in their places. One Helmer Liver of Ohio had been appointed assistant secretary and as he was trained in the business of distributing patronage, it was expected that there would be a rich harvest after he entered the department. It was found, however, that he very soon came into conflict with Commissioner Blair when he tried to reorganize the internal revenue department, and in order to check his activities Secretary Mellon came out with the statement quoted above, which does him great credit.

APPEALING TO MARS

True the planet Mars comes a million miles closer in a day, but yet it is 12,500,000 miles away, a distance over which the most powerful telescope has little power to penetrate. It is true that with the advance in electrical astronomical science, the observations will probably be able to get a more perfect view of the surface of Mars than ever before; but beyond this, no great discovery is expected. The white lines supposed to be canals on the surface of Mars have always interested the astronomers as they indicate that the planet is inhabited by sentient beings. On that point, however, there is no definite conclusion. Yet it is generally supposed that as the earth is one of the planets, it is not the only one that is inhabited; but whether by beings resembling man or of a constitution entirely different is also a matter of mere speculation. Marconi has been trying for some time to get a response to his wireless messages directed at Mars, but as yet has not received any that he can identify as such. Indeed there is a question whether the wireless waves are carried into the luminiferous ether much beyond our atmosphere. Thus the hope of communicating with Mars is based upon a great many uncertainties that are not likely to be removed. Yet it is well to pursue these lines of research and speculation as it is only by this means that the real facts in the case, if at all attainable, can be finally determined.

The imagination can readily picture scientists on the planet Mars trying to communicate with us. Just as we are trying to reach them; but as already stated, our efforts in this respect are based solely upon speculation. That, however, does not preclude the discovery and final proof that what is now a supposition may ultimately be established as a scientific reality.

In August, 1921, the scientists will get a still closer view of Mars when the planet will be only 31,000,000 miles from the earth. The powerful telescopes may then be able to reveal some new facts bearing upon the great question as to the existence of life on Mars.

A LAME DEFENSE

In Philadelphia a man is charged with manslaughter because of having killed a woman while driving an auto, as the police claim, while he was in a state of intoxication.

Against the latter charge the defendant makes sweeping denials, asserting that he is suffering from locomotor ataxia and hence unable to control his car. The officers smelled alcohol off his breath and this, he says, was from medicine used for his ailment. It is true that alcoholic liquor may be prescribed, and properly, for certain diseases, but we are not aware that the disease mentioned is one of them. As it happens that the defendant was engaged in the enforcement of the prohibition law, his defense is somewhat similar to that of the man who showed his temperance pledge in police court as proof that he was not guilty of the charge of drunkenness.

THAT PRIOR REVENUE

The present administration will be able to make a financial showing this year that will be misleading to the public from the fact that a fund of $176,000 surplus revenue from past years is being drawn upon for use in the departments without affecting the tax rate. It is as if the city had drawn upon the trust funds of the city to meet current expenses. The question arises why this fund not considered, when the appropriations were being made. Was it strategy by

The amount of this fund if raised in the tax levy would add $1.35 to the tax rate, so that if the tax rate remains same as last year, it will mean that the expenditures represented a tax rate about $1.35 higher.

SPECIALISTS

Brill, leading American psychoanalyst, "kicks" one famous list of questions which inventor Edison submits to applicants for jobs.

To answer all the Edison questions correctly, says Brill, would reveal only a general smattering of knowledge—superficial brain hash—instead of thoroughness in any one thing.

Maybe so, maybe not. A question revealing that an applicant has baseball-phobia might be sufficient proof that his mind would seldom be on his work.

Brill is right about thoroughness, in this age when success comes only by specialization. That's the chief trouble with our government, forever being turned over to new experimenters instead of specialists.

RADIO SWINDLES

Be careful about buying stock in new radio corporations. Some of them, glutting the market with "stuff" made to sell and not of much use, will cause investors to lose millions.

This warning comes from Alexander Elsmann, president of the National Radio chamber of commerce.

The radio investment craze starts out surprisingly like the big boom in worthless air stocks. About 400 new corporations a month are being organized by promoters to manufacture radio apparatus. The ones that will survive as excellent investments probably can be counted on your fingers and toes.

The same principle can be applied to nearly every new industry. Swindlers keep up with the times.

CHANCE

When Camille Flammarion was five years old, he saw a cyclone of the sun reflected in a bucket of water. That aroused his interest in the stars. Today he is a celebrated French astronomer. Flammarion suggests that he might have followed some other line of work, if chance had not led him to the water pail.

Chance—happening at any moment—is what makes life interesting. The laws of chance have a lot to do with our careers. Many successful men are creations of chance, or luck, though they try to pin it on hard work and not watching the clock. But it would not be wise to avoid hard work and depend upon chance. Most people who do that are disappointed in the end. Chance usually favors those who are not looking for her favors.

INDIANS

In Canada, 300 Indians march on Point Police government park, saying they will seize it as their property.

That the royal mounted police have been called on, to turn them back, is the official report—which probably means that a half dozen of the redcoats will handle the job.

In a similar plot in Texas the Rangers were sent for. A special train pulled in and one Texas ranger got off.

"What?" shouted the chief of police. "Only send one ranger?"

"There's only one riot," retorted the ranger and he felt competent to quell it.

The fact that the Saco-Lowell is to increase its plant indicates that its business abroad is growing. Every country of any importance is now planning to manufacture its own textiles. China, India, and Japan are extending the textile business very rapidly and now, by the aid of Germany, it is to be extended in Russia. Thus the Saco-Lowell company has an ever-increasing demand for textile machinery. Students from other lands are here to learn the textile trade in order to be able to extend it in their own countries.

The one great drawback to New England textile prosperity is the bitter conflict between the manufacturers and their employees. While they wrangle over the wage question, the business is fast going elsewhere and once lost, will never return. Think it over, gentlemen.

When next the mayor nominates for the board of assessors, he will have to designate what assessor each nominee is to displace. Otherwise it will be expedient for the council to pass them up. We do not want to avoid the inflection business.

J. H. Lamphere, a Nahant fisherman, lost his life in an effort to save two boys from drowning. He set out to catch them in a leaky boat and unable to swim, sank with the boat. Unable to swim, proof of the criminality of not teaching every boy how to swim.

Attorney General Allen has had his ear to the ground awaiting a call to serve the people as governor but, as yet, it seems the expected call has not been forthcoming. Does the commission underestimate his services or does he overestimate his popularity?

It seems now that June has paid in full for the mistake she made on her arrival in sending a spell of August weather.

The city should not be obliged to pay for unnecessary litigation brought on by the political schemes of its officials.

SEEN AND HEARD

Germany is collecting an indemnity from our tourists.

The tariff may be raising the price of wool suits; but the boll weevil is doing his part.

A Thought

Justice and humanity have been fighting their way, like a thunderstorm, against the organized selfishness of human nature. God has given mankind but one clew to success—truth and exact justice.—Wendell Phillips.

He Didn't Dare to

It was during the impenetrable of a jury the following colloquy occurred: "Married for five years, your honor?" "Have you formed or expressed any opinion?" "Not for five years, your honor."

Today's Word

Today's word is moribund. It pronounced more-bund, with accent on the first syllable. It means—in a dying state, near death. It comes from Latin "moriri," to die. It's used like this—"Many people believe a new political alignment in the United States to be near and that both old party organizations are moribund."

Very Handy Book

"Here's a book," said the agent, "which you can't afford to be without." "I never read," answered the victim. "Well, buy it for your children." "I'm single—I have no family. All I have is a dog." "Well, don't you want a nice, handy book to throw at the dog now and then?"

What's the Use?

Sam boarded a trolley, and after a few whispered words with the motorman, shuffled to the exit door at the middle of the car, where the conductor collected fares. The conductor asked: "Why do you want to get off so soon, Sam?" "Well, Sam," Sam said, "I want to get off at Cedar avenue, and I want to get off at Cedar avenue, and I want to get off at Cedar avenue." The conductor replied: "Well, there isn't a Cedar avenue." Sam continued: "Well, den, what's de use of me goin'?"—Judge.

Wrong Passenger

A young man was wheeling a perambulator to and fro in front of the house. He looked hot but contented. "My dear," came a voice from the upper window of the house. "Now let me alone," he called back. "We are all right." An hour later the same voice called in earnest pleading tones: "Ar-thur, dear!" "Well, what do you want?" he responded. "Anything wrong in the house?" "No, dear; but you have been wheeling Doris doll all the afternoon. Isn't it time for the baby to have a turn?"

Just Bragging

Margaret L. O'Brien, secretary of the Domestic Servants' league, said in an address in Chicago: "If a servant is a hard worker, she has a right to brag about it. The thing, however, shouldn't be carried too far. I remember an Indian was waited on by a stately Indian, an applicant for the post of cook. The interview was satisfactory and the missionary said at the end: 'I guess I'll engage you. By the way, though, what's your religion?' 'I am a Christian,' he answered. 'What do you mean by that?' said the missionary. 'Bog pardon, sir. Am worshiper of sticks and stones.' 'My gracious!' said the missionary. 'I'm afraid I can't employ such a character as that.' 'Bog pardon, sir,' said the Indian. 'For the love of God, work so dam hard no time to worship anything.'—Detroit Free Press.

"Love Me, Love My Dog"

We were two comrades splendidly matched. Neither afraid of rough weather; There could not be twin more closely attached.

As we took the road together.

I loved you—the fire in your blue gray eye.

The precious lift of your shoulder; You loved me, I knew, but I could not guess why.

You said, "You will never be older!"

We were two comrades, . . . but there was a third:

Behind me he dolefully trotted. Then, caught at my hand—he then begged for a word.

Nor kept to his place allotted.

That third—twas my "dog"—and you loved him not.

You called him a pampered minion! Why was it that your forbearance for—

And beat my poor dog opinion?

"If you loved me, you'd love what I loved!"

You could not. . . and now we are parted.

My dog, my weekly, trots on by my side.

Oh, why am I so broken hearted!

By EDITH M. THOMAS in the New York Herald.

THE MAN ABOUT TOWN

The removal of an entire house from one foundation to another is indeed quite a feat, especially when the building is one of large proportions. On Sixth street, St. Michael's church, a two tenement structure was moved from its former location to another on Fourth street, two blocks distant. But a feat of this kind is now easily performed. The trick was done, however, in short order, and the house is now resting on its newly erected support on Fourth street, none the worse for its experience.

Was your cellar flooded by the rain of yesterday? If not, you may consider yourself lucky, for there were a few thousand basements where old Juniper Plutus vented his wrath to the extent of heavy and unwelcome seepages. A certain druggist in the city, on descending his cellar stairs this morning was greeted with a miniature swimming pool. His stock, luckily was untouched, but a lot of rain water, besides also suffered by the three and a half inches of rainfall and many people can now truly boast of a "wet cellar" without entailing the investigation of prohibition officials.

It is a fascinating picture and one that is enjoyed not only by children but by adults as well. A thing like this is a novelty and is therefore productive of a great deal of pleasure. In a household where there is a large family it is necessary to buy more than one paper so that each member can try his hand at the art. Resident citizens of other states may elect not to accept such citizenship.

Irish the National Language

Berton Braley's Daily Poem FOUNDATIONS

With pick and drill and dynamite
The workmen labor, day and night,
To build on everlasting rock,
Foundations proof against each shock.
They dig and delve beneath the soil
Yet, to the passerby, their toil
Appears, somehow, of little worth—
Merely a deep hole in the earth!

Then, overnight—or so it seems—
High in the air a structure gleams,
And many-storied towers rise
In strength and beauty to the skies.
For once the strong foundation's laid
Full swiftly all the rest is made.
And thus we watch it lift and grow
Based on the work that doesn't show.

With men it's oftentimes the same,
They lift themselves to sudden fame,
Or it seems sudden—till we find
What toil of body and of mind,
What years of struggle and of stress
Have laid foundations for success.
For when that work is done at last
The superstructure rises fast.

One of the most widely discussed pictures of the age is now showing at the Merrimack Square theatre. It is entitled "The Queen of Sheba." The remarkable story of the Queen of Sheba and her love affair with King Solomon, staged by William Fox is worth watching for the grandeur and color of its stage settings alone. It shows the Queen of Sheba in all the splendor of the East, and the manner in which the different "sets"

McCALL NOT CANDIDATE FOR U. S. SENATOR

NORTHAMPTON, June 19.—Former-Governor Samuel W. McCall announced here yesterday that he would not be a candidate for the republican nomination for United States senator.

Mr. McCall, who was here to attend a meeting of the board of trustees of Smith college, issued the following statement:

"I shall not be a candidate for the republican nomination for United States senator. Since I had neither decided upon nor announced my candidacy, this statement may seem superfluous, but I am making it in deference to the opinion of those who think otherwise."

LAMP SHADES

Lamp shades are much less colorful and figured than they used to be, and they tone much better into the general scheme of the room. Ivory-colored shades of silk or parchment have become popular for bedroom use. They fit admirably into the chintz-hung room.

BOY SCOUT CAMPAIGN. WORKERS MEET

At a meeting of the workers in the Boy Scout campaign held last night the largest amount turned in by a team captain was $100 from Chief Edward F. Saunders of the Firemen's team. This, together with other good sized amounts turned in by other captains, brought the amount for the evening to $445, and the total to date to $2020.50. Despite the generally liberal response met with by the workers, the $5000 set as a goal by the general committee seems far from realization, but they refused to be discouraged. Other team contributions were as follows: President Grasse, $75; Benjamin S. Pouzner, $55; John M. O'Donoghue, $50; Edward Daly, $40; Allan Fraser, $34.50; Edward Fisher, $30; Mayor George H. Brown, $10.75; Rev. A. C. McGiffert, $10; Carl L. Hilton, $25; A. E. Thurston, $8; G. W. Neville, $5; William Cantor, $5; Adelbert Staples, $3.

Other subscriptions received were: Ash and garbage collection department, city of Lowell, $10.75; Boy Scouts of America, $10; U.P.D. Bible class of the First Primitive Methodist church, $5; Samuel H. Hines lodge, 36 K. of P., $5.

NEW POLICE CHIEF TALKS TO HIS MEN

Supt. Thomas R. Atkinson addressed the men of the police department Sunday on matters pertaining to police work in general, the value and need of constant application to duty and on the subject of appearance and attitude toward the public and persons arrested. It was the first time since he went to the head of the department that the new chief formally had addressed his men.

The superintendent stressed the need of co-operation and expressed the hope that he, enjoyed the confidence of every man on the force. Life is too short to bother with petty disputes and differences, he said, and no police department ever can rise above the general deportment and behavior of its personnel.

Supt. Atkinson told the men that he did not contemplate sensationalism in office and all that he wants is a practical demonstration of common sense in the treatment of an officer's daily work. Civility must be maintained at all times, he said.

LAST MEETING OF FLYING SQUADRON

The series of meetings held in Lowell for three days by the Flying Squadron was brought to a close last night with a meeting at the Y.M.C.A., at which Dr. Oliver W. Stewart, president of the foundation, and Miss Norma C. Brown, former chaplain of the Illinois House of representatives, were the speakers.

It was a meeting given over entirely to the discussion of prohibition and both spoke at length upon the 18th amendment, its results and effects upon the country at large. Rev. George Sturtevant, pastor of the Congregational church of Draught, presided.

HEALTH BOARD HOLDS ROUTINE MEETING

A routine meeting of the board of health was held last night for the purpose of granting stable licenses and approving payrolls. Affairs of the isolation hospital were discussed with the superintendent, Dr. Forster H. Smith. Dr. Francis A. Finnegan, director of school hygiene, will submit a report to the board at its next meeting upon the proposed summer camp to be established this summer for the care of under-nourished children of school age.

Learn To Play by Radio—It's The Latest Method for Novices

LEARNING TO PLAY BY RADIO. ABOVE, BILLIARDS. BELOW, GOLF

Learn to play by radio. Time was when a golf aspirant was seen on the links with a book in one hand and golf sticks in the other. Or he had an instructor with him. That still is the practice for many a novice on the golf, tennis or many fields.

But if you want to advance with the times, set up a radio set at the tee and listen in on instructions from an expert at a broadcasting station.

A well known golf club near New York has installed a radio system at each tee. At regular hours, an instructor broadcasts his lessons to novices on the links. That enlarges his class ninefold.

Or, if a player is wanted at the club house, a call is sent out for him by radio. That eliminates much footwork for messengers.

In billiards, too, radio is playing its part as means of instruction. Instead of "expert" advice from the onlookers, the new player gets real help from a recognized expert by radio.

The same kind of instruction is expected in other fields of sport.

Expert Shows Why Winter Is Best for Radio Fans

By PAUL F. GODFREY
America's Foremost Radio Authority

Dog days are poor days for radio reception. The best results are obtained during the winter months. This fact is illustrated graphically in the chart which shows the strength of signals received at Washington from Philadelphia (represented by the dotted line) and Norfolk (solid line), located respectively at distances of 110 and 150 miles.

These curves were recorded over a period of approximately two years and give a fair idea of the relative strength of reception from month to month.

Both of these stations were operating on a wave length of 1000 meters. Had they used a shorter length, 300 meters, for example, the variation in signal strength would have been considerably greater.

Not only are the signals weaker during the summer months than during the winter but the amount of interference due to natural causes (static) is greatly increased.

Radio cannot fully come into its own until some means of counteracting these natural effects have been devised.

On the shorter wave lengths, the rise and fall of signal strength is also very marked at sunset and sunrise. During the night, the absorption of the electrical energies caused by the sunlight are absent and, depending on several other factors, extremely small signal energies may penetrate to great distances.

This effect is most noticeable during the winter.

Even during the daytime in cold weather, particularly if it happens to be dark, signals from small stations have been received at great distances.

Best Results

The best results are recorded between 4.30 p. m. and 5.30 a. m. during the winter.

British naval vessels off the coasts of Australia heard a low-power telephone station on the Pacific coast last winter.

But dog days are hot days. And reception is comparatively poor.

How to Play Baseball

How Pitcher Co-operates With Infielders

By BILLY EVANS

American League Umpire and Sporting Editor, N.E.A. Service

Sometimes the batter crosses the shortstop by doing the unexpected and hitting contrary to his usual custom. However, the pitcher is often more responsible for the infield being crossed. For instance, there is a left-handed batter up known as right field hit. With a runner on first and such a batter up, it becomes the duty of the shortstop to cover. The second baseman moves over in the direction of the bag in order to hold the runner close and to prevent him getting a big lead. It is the duty of the pitcher to keep the ball inside on such a hitter. Should the pitcher slip up on his control and get the ball outside, it is possible that the batter may hit into left field, through the spot vacated by the shortstop.

Know Signals
The shortstop, as well as the second baseman, should be perfectly familiar with the signals of the pitcher and catcher.

Knowing what is going to be pitched not only assists them in properly playing the ball, but also in a flash, they can tell to who should cover on certain pitches.

We will assume there is a base runner on second. The batsman is a right field hitter and the second baseman is playing well over toward first. The runner on second persists in taking a big lead. As the second baseman and shortstop watch the catcher's signals, they note he has flashed the pitch-out sign.

No boundary
Since the batsman is a right field hitter, the second baseman must continue to play his position. Therefore, on such a play it is up to the shortstop to get over and take the throw that may trap the runner off second. There are really no boundary lines of a shortstop's territory. The best hit of an infielder could occur would be for the shortstop to try for every ball within his reach.

Infield Outfield
If left field happens to be a sun field, the shortstop is often forced to go to the aid of the outfielder. Often the infielder, looking directly into the rays of the sun, loses sight of a ball which the shortstop, going out of him and not looking into the sun, can see. In such a situation, the shortstop must take the ball and throw it to the outfielder. In that respect, he is the runnerup to the second baseman. For that reason, he, as second baseman, must constantly have a mental picture of the location of second base so that he will lose no time in looking around for it on close plays.

TWILIGHT LEAGUE DOPE LAST DAY OF GRACE FOR KILBANE AND WILSON

Many Good Games This Week if Weather Man is a Baseball Fan

Tonight the K. of C. and Y. M. C. I. will meet for the fourth time. The first contest was postponed for nearly three weeks, resulting in a 3 to 2 score twice and an 8 to 1 victory for the Bulldogs boys on the third at the K. of C. Both teams are confident of victory, with the K. of C. possibly a more formidable foe while their opponents of this evening were hitting a 50-50 clip. Tonight's game should be a hummer, particularly as the rival teams, Dabbs and Hawley, should oppose each other on the firing line.

The enforced postponement of last night's game between the Highland and the Broadways, a play-off of the 1 to 1 tie of June 1, means that the final decision in the league must hang in the air until next week. The club had clashed twice previously, with the Daylights winning on both occasions by small margins, a 2 to 1 and a 3 to 1. The third contest was taken by the Broadways club supporters to mean that their favorites were about to be ousted at least a week before their expectations are realized, or proved to lack foundation.

Since Abe Buckley joined the K. of C. team it has been going like a house of fire, and moreover, Abe has at last got his eye on the ball for the first time in a long while. Starting with Freddy Crowe, who works a pitcher to the limit and makes him show his hitting in his batting, Daley, Loftus and McGowan, coming up in succession, is sufficient to make any pitcher hang up his shins.

In the fielding department Buckley has filed a big cap, thus giving the pitcher added confidence. With one exception, the club is holding down the second bag when Daley is working in the box, the "crazy" would be a likely proposition for the pennant.

The lapse of the Centralvilles during the past week has been a surprise to many of the fans, but there is little question that the difficulty lies in the infield. This weakness will be still further accentuated when the Bulldogs boys, who are confident of victory, return to the game has made the outfield one of the best in the league, but even with Sam Poullet in the box, the Bulldogs boys will keep the team on the whole. McVey cannot cover the whole infield, and with the reported loss of Connor's fairly capable men must be counted at once for the first line defense.

On Thursday night Louis Lord's outfit will meet the Centralvilles for the second time in the opening game of the season. The Foye aggregation, starting off with eight runs in the first inning, lost one less, than the Bulldogs boys, secured the entire five innings. Although held down fairly well during the remainder of the game, they secured four more, winning 12 to 5. The Daylights aver that this will not happen again, and have been waiting patiently for the second chance. On account of the boys' suffering by both teams last week, the outcome will be watched with interest, for they have been playing the best brand of ball until the last few days.

On Friday night the K. of C. and Macphersons will meet once more. Strongly enough, the Bulldogs boys can not be other team since this is the K. of C. by the score of 2 to 1. A showing which gave Manager Bob a great deal of encouragement. He has a great number of players to try out and he expects to break into the ranks of the winners at an early date. He will be watching in Friday's game as a head manager could be expected to be watching in any baseball game.

Although the Centralvilles and Macphersons are slated for Saturday, the announcement that the track meet under the auspices of the Y.M.C.I. will be held on that date, is another postponement. The attitude of the league has been favorable to the conduct of the meet since it was first announced.

LOYAL WARRIOR LODGE
A feature of last evening's meeting of Loyal Warrior Lodge, 1010 I.O.G.F., was the election of officers for the ensuing six months, which resulted as follows: President, Lightfoot; Vice President, J. H. Miller; Secretary, Arthur J. Willis; Treasurer, Fred Chapman; trustee for 18 months. The meeting was presided over by St. Frank Bawling and routine business was transacted.

Fitzpatrick Greatest Developer of Athletes

By BILLY EVANS
In baseball Connie Mack stands out as a developer of star players. Mack is one of the few major league managers who taken unknown youngsters from the colleges or sandlots and in a few short years makes stars out of them.

A majority of the major league leaders when seeking to strengthen their teams simply go out and buy a lot of high-priced minor league stars. A number of American league clubs boast one or more star players who made it all under Mack's direction.

The Chicago White Sox have Eddie Collins and Amos Strunk, New York Giants Wally Schang, Bob Shawkey, Joe Bush and "Whit" Witt. Boston has Joe Judge, Cleveland has Stuffy McInnis, Steve O'Neill and Stanley Coveleski.

Like Connie Mack
In college track athletics Keene Fitzpatrick occupies much the same place that Connie Mack holds in major league baseball.

Fitzpatrick stands out as one of the greatest developers of college athletes in the history of the track sport. In the old days Keene Fitzpatrick stood with the late Mike Murphy for premier honors. A few years before his death, when Murphy was in charge at the University of Pennsylvania, I paid him a visit. I had a two-fold object. I had suffered an injury to my left knee during a ball game and wanted his advice as to how to cure it. Likewise I wanted to talk shop.

Much of Murphy's success as a track coach was due to his remarkable knowledge of anatomy. He knew more about the human body than many doctors. Somehow he could get me into shape after a learned doctor would count him out of the running.

A Second Murphy
Fitzpatrick and Murphy were old cronies. They always swapped ideas. Today Fitzpatrick occupies much the same position as did Mike Murphy before his death.

Much of Fitzpatrick's success is due to his knowledge of the anatomy. He is a great conditioner.

Fitzpatrick is now at Princeton. He formerly coached at Michigan. While at Michigan he took the relay championships year after year.

The splendid all-around showing of the Princeton university was the outstanding feature of the recent intercollegiate meet. It was a great tribute to the ability of Keene Fitzpatrick.

People California's victory, Princeton presented the best balanced machine in the big Harvard meet. The Tigers' scintilla in every branch of competition.

Trust to God
Following back to Mike Murphy. During my visit with him I asked the great trainer what he regarded as the most difficult event in the intercollegiate meet. Without the slightest hesitation he replied:

"The 440-yard run, because, it is a sprint all the way. That interested me and I asked Murphy how he instructed his men to perform in the 440."

"Well, I always tell the boys to run the first 200 yards at top speed, then try to stop the next 200 a little bit faster."

"And what about the final 40 yards?" I asked.

"The simply must trust to God to get them over the last 40 yards," was Murphy's laconic reply.

Undoubtedly it has been the glamour of Babe Ruth that has caused the unprecedented attendance at the big league ball parks the past two seasons.

It would seem of the thousands who have been drawn to the parks to see the famed slugger have learned to know the game and have become solid fans. The game have not been overconfident in their work of undertaking the creation of the world's largest ball park.

ANNUAL MILITARY MASS FOR CADETS
Next Sunday morning at 9 o'clock the annual military mass of the O.M.I. cadets will be held at the Immaculate Conception church. From year to year, since the inception of the organization's great yearly observance, interest has continually been on the increase, until at the present time it is looked upon by both past and present members of the cadet body as the great event of the season indeed. It is expected that, as in the past, members at distant points will make arrangements to attend.

By way of a sermon on this occasion it is expected that Rev. Denis A. Sullivan, O.M.I., the founder and spiritual director of the cadet organization, will have something of timely interest and importance to bring to the attention of all present.

In preparation for the event, all members of the cadets are requested to meet at the military next Friday evening at 8:30 o'clock, when plans will be finally discussed and put into shape. It is planned to have the entire assembly decorated, and that a luncheon will be served after the mass, after which there will be an entertainment with a speaker or two on the program.

YANKS' NEW PARK TO TIGERS ON HEELS OF YANKEES

COST $3,000,000

NEW YORK, N. Y., June 20.—It's a far cry from the Union grounds, Brooklyn, the first baseball enclosure, to the Yankees' new baseball park, work on which has just been started. The new park will have a seating capacity of a few hundred. The Yankees' new stadium will cost approximately $3,000,000, and will be a triple deck structure and have a seating capacity of a few hundred. The Yankees' new stadium will cost approximately $3,000,000, and will be a triple deck structure and have a seating capacity of a few hundred.

The Yankees' new stadium will be the biggest baseball plant in the world, as well as a testimonial to the appeal of the great American game.

Faith—Lots of It
In his undertaking the two colonels, Jacob Ruppert and T. L. Huston, both great business men, have shown their faith in the future of baseball.

Colonel Ruppert is exceptionally enthusiastic about it. He says: "When Colonel Huston and myself bought the Yankees, a crowd of 15,000 was something to brag about, but as time has passed, baseball has taken more and more of a hold on the people, and sometimes we have been compelled to turn away people from the Polo grounds, though it holds over 31,000."

Blame to Blame
Undoubtedly it has been the glamour of Babe Ruth that has caused the unprecedented attendance at the big league ball parks the past two seasons.

It would seem of the thousands who have been drawn to the parks to see the famed slugger have learned to know the game and have become solid fans. The game have not been overconfident in their work of undertaking the creation of the world's largest ball park.

Helmann's Struck Stopped
Harry Helmann's great hitting streak was stopped by Fullerton while the Tigers were outslugging the Red Sox, 11 to 3. The Detroit star had just hit his 13 consecutive hits, but the strike was turned back in this way.

The Browns increased their lead in the first inning of the game by taking their second straight from the Giants. Pfeiffer checked the champion in the ninth after Earl Smith starts a rally with a home run.

Brooklyn staged a thrilling ninth inning rally against the Pirates, scoring four runs to tie the score, and won in the 14th, 6 to 5.

Rich Riederer's homer in the ninth with two on, enabled the Phillies to beat the Chicago Cubs, 3-2, while Ferdie Schupp, ex-Giant, who was staying a comeback with the White Sox, held Washington to four hits (fanned 10 and won 2 to 0).

LOWELL DOGS WIN
Lowell dog fanciers were rewarded for their effort in entering dogs in the Ladies' dog club show held in Brooklyn last Saturday. Mrs. Tillie Brice took their second straight from the Giants. Pfeiffer checked the champion in the ninth after Earl Smith starts a rally with a home run.

1000 MENACED BY LANDSLIDE

Four Trains Barely Escaped Being Wrecked—Rocks and Earth Piled Up

BOSTON, June 20.—The lives of 1000 passengers were saved by a matter of inches and minutes and by the presence of mind of one man last night when tons upon tons of oozy, sticky mud washed by the heavy rain from the embankment in the rear of the Medford Hillside station, swept across the Boston & Maine tracks, forming a barricade that no train could have plowed through without being wrecked.

Two Montreal flors—the 7 p. m. Central Vermont and the 7.30 Canadian Pacific—both of which were loaded to their capacity, a freight train and one local narrowly missed piling up one of the worst railroad catastrophes of recent years.

The mere fact that the Canadian Pacific Montreal flor, which ordinarily swishes through Medford Hillside at the rate of 60 miles an hour, was 16 minutes late leaving the North station, owing to unusually heavy travel, alerted Walter J. Ballou, of 78 Winthrop street, Medford, who discovered the wash-out, getting in an emergency call to the train dispatcher and then rushing up the tracks waving a red lantern in time to prevent the train from crashing into a six-foot boulder which lodged in the very centre of the out-bound track as the result of the landslide.

The 7 o'clock Grand Trunk & Central Vermont train, for Montreal via White River Junction, passed through Medford Hillside at 7.12 (railroad time), just a few minutes before the embankment gave way.

The Canadian Pacific train carried two line coaches, four sleepers, two baggage cars and a mail car and was in charge of Conductor Charles Hayes of Newport, N. H. The Central Vermont train, in charge of Conductor W. C. Shattuck of Somerville, carried three sleepers, two baggage cars and a mail car. Ordinarily, this train carries but two sleepers, unusually heavy travel last night accounting for the third.

Heard Landslide Crash

Walter J. Ballou, who lives near the tracks, heard the crashing of mud and rocks as a 25-foot section of the embankment under the Community House of the Universalist church gave way under the ceaseless undermining of the heavy rain and swirled across the tracks. He rushed to the railroad station, and, sensing in an instant, the seriousness of the situation, hurried back to his home and telephoned the North station.

He warned the train dispatcher of the danger and the latter passed the word along to the engineer of the Canadian Pacific train. The train was blocked, but he did not know the exact location of the washout.

Ballou, having delivered his warning, grabbed a red lantern and ran far up the tracks, flagging the train about 150 yards from the obstruction.

With the Montreal train stopped, Ballou hurried in the other direction and likewise stopped the local from Wilmington, due at the North station at 8.42 (railroad time). Far in the rear of the Montreal train the engineer of the fast freight saw the danger signal and brought his train to a halt.

The tail-lights of the Central Vermont train could be seen in the distance when Ballou reached the scene of the wash-out, the train having passed the station less than three minutes before the rails were blocked.
